

Dear NCS Parents & Fellow Classmates,

As many of you may know Hurricane Harvey has brought about heartbreaking tragedy in Houston. It has not only affected the families and their loved ones in Houston but the hearts of your NCS student council. Not wanting to stand idly by, it occurred to us that there could possibly be a Christian school in Houston in need of help. After a bit of research, we found that school -- Houston Christian High School. This is where we feel we can make an impact for God's kingdom.

We contacted HCS and asked what we could do to help. They informed us that many staff members and their children have been evacuated from their homes and many other families in their community are in dire need. The things that would be most helpful right now are the basic necessities listed below and donations to the benevolence fund.

Let's get out there and be the hands and feet of Christ and make a difference!
