Young Masters

is honored to be showcasing selected works with The Cynthia Corbett Gallery. As a continuation of the Young Masters Touring Programme, we are pleased to present some of the most promising artists from previous editions of the prize at London Art Fair 2018, including: Antoine Schneck, Azita Moradkhani, Eleanor Watson, Fabiano Parisi, Isabelle van Zeijl, Katie Spragg, Liane Lang, Liron Kroll, Lucille Lewin and Zemer Peled.

Young Masters will be officially launching its 2018 – 2019 media partnership with After Nyne during London Art Fair. To celebrate this collaboration, Claire Meadows, editor of After Nyne, the art lover's magazine, will be hosting a Q&A with Young Masters highly commended artist Isabelle van Zeijl. The discussion will explore van Zeijl's recent series of Golden Age Portraiture commissions in addition to her crowdfunding project for a new artist's book Historical Icons of Beauty.

Alongside photography, painting, drawing and printmaking, this curation will also feature ceramics by Young Masters alumni Katie Spragg, Lucille Lewin and Zemer Peled, who will later be exhibiting as part of the highly anticipated Young Masters Tour presentation at the Craft Council's international art fair for contemporary objects, COLLECT 2018, running at the Saatchi Gallery from 22nd – 25th February.

About the Young Masters Art Prize

In 2009, Cynthia Corbett launched the Young Masters Art Prize, a not-for-profit initiative that gives a platform to both emerging and established artists who pay homage to the skill and innovation of the Old Masters and art of the past. The 2014 edition saw the launch of the first Young Masters Maylis Grand Ceramics Prize for artists working in ceramic and reflects the creativity and innovation of this artistic medium. For the first time in 2017, the Young Masters Emerging Woman Art Prize was launched to profile and reward an emerging female artist.
