The 2018 Theatre Internship fair is an opportunity for students to meet and greet with theatre companies in New York City. All theatre companies present at the fair are seeking interns to support their work in fields such as production, marketing, fundraising, general management, and more. While most companies are offering internships for the upcoming Summer and Fall semesters, students can also find more immediate placement.

The 2018 Theatre Internship Fair is generously sponsored by the Michael Tuch Foundation and TheatreMania.
