MAKING THE MOST OF THE MISHKAN

As the Parsha opens, it's the day after Yom Kippur, the 11th of Tishrei. Things are settling down after the unfortunate episode with the golden calf. The people aren't feeling very good about themselves right now. Although Hashem has forgiven them, they just missed total annihilation by the skin of their teeth!

Moshe gathers up the people for a big announcement. Hashem has not only forgiven Bnai Yisrael for their terrible sins, but has decided that He will now dwell among the people. But first a special "home" for the Shechina must be erected. This home is called the "Mishkan." Now, we know all about the Mishkan because we planted bugs on the summit of Har Sinai & heard all the details that Hashem gave Moshe in previous weeks. But Bnai Yisrael is hearing about this for the first time. Little do they realize that this remedy existed before the "mad cow disease" ran rampant.

Bnai Yisrael are up on the bleachers, waving banners and crying out with great joy in their hearts. Now they know for sure that Hashem will always be in their midst. They are eager to begin the construction and are hanging on Moshe's every word. But before Moshe will give details, he warns Bnai Yisrael that even though building the Mishkan is holy work, it is forbidden to do any work on the Mishkan on Shabbat. It is wonderful that they are so eager to do good. Sometimes when we do something wrong we want to rush to make it right. In this case Bnai Yisrael had a whole Shabbat to fully take in the extent of how foolish they were, and how fortunate it was that Hashem had forgiven them.

“Quote of the Week”

“What matters is not so much where you stand, but with what force you are moving in which direction.”

-Rabbi Menachem Mendel Schneersohn
 (The last Lubavitcher Rebbe)

DID YOU KNOW.....

Did you know that with a telescope there are 10^{22} stars visible in the sky (that's more than a trillion!)? This is based on the assumption that the average star is of similar mass to our sun. If the average were less, then the number of stars would be lower. Interestingly enough the Talmud in Brachos 32b says there are 10^{18} stars. But how did they know this without a telescope (officially invented in 1609)? It was based on the oral tradition received by Moshe.

KIDDLE RIDDLE

THE FIRST KID WHO TELLS YONI THE ANSWER GETS $3 MM, THE SECOND GETS $2, & THE THIRD GETS $1- NO TELLING THE ANSWER!

241 pesukim- That's a whole lot!
Guess when it happens- give it a shot
It's not every year, or even every other
Here's a hint- It involves a parsha...and another

Last Week-

The Golden Calf- what a foolish act
But more gold cows were made- it's a fact
Tell me the Jewish leader who did this sin
Look in the Book of Kings & you could win
