

Meet Griffin

Service Desk Technician

Griffin joined the Portland Internetworks team in September of 2017 as a Service Desk Technician. When you call in to pdx.net his voice will most likely be the one you hear on the other end. He is a Lewis and Clark Alumni and has been a pivotal member of the rowing team throughout his college experience. He will debate that rowing is one of the greatest “true sports” unlike say, America’s greatest pastime. His love of rowing has led to a deep sense on synchronization and harmony that shows at work.

During office hours Griffin can be found in the service department usually laughing and having a good time with his team mates. Like many Portland Internetworks employees, he is always game for a round of ping pong. Want to start a conversation with him? Topics I have found useful when looking to engage on break time include: mechanical keyboards and MMORPGs, but he is a multifaceted individual and is willing to chat enthusiastically about most any topic.

Get to know Griffin, he can be reached at griffin@pdx.net or (503) 972-7272
