

Thrivent Open House Nov. 6 in Williston

WILLISTON, ND – The Northwest Dakota Financial Associates of Thrivent Financial invites the public to an open house from 3-6 p.m. Monday, Nov. 6 at the Williston office, 54 25th St. E., Suite C. to meet new the team's newest financial representative, Kristin Oxendahl, who started with the office last month. Oxendahl joins Stuart Langager and Greg Everson in serving Thrivent members and growing the company's presence in the Williston area.

Oxendahl, a native of Williston, came to Thrivent after working at the Williston Salvation Army. She graduated from Williston State College, and continued her education at Charis Bible College in Colorado Springs, Colo., receiving a bachelor's degree in ministry. "We are thrilled to have Kristin in our local office," Langager said. "She brings fresh new ideas to the office and we are thankful that she has joined our team. I encourage the public to come join us in welcoming her to the office."

Additionally, Thrivent will be collecting items to help restock the Salvation Army food pantry.

"We are asking those who attend the open house to bring some canned goods or other non-perishable food, personal hygiene items, etc.," Everson said. "We are coming up on the holiday season which can be stressful for families who are struggling to provide essential needs for their families. We would like to help by supplying some needed items for these families who need a hand."

The Thrivent team invites all to come enjoy some appetizers and register for door prizes. For more information, contact the office at 572-7288.
