

Photo courtesy of the National Museum of Natural History

MORE THAN CHERRY BLOSSOMS

A DC Collaborative 20th Anniversary Community Conversation

Co-hosted by The DC Arts and Humanities Education Collaborative and National Museum of Natural History

As the country's capital, the focus in Washington, DC is most often on national responsibilities and global impact. And the District of Columbia is where federal agencies and organizations shape and execute policy, where national associations and organizations have their headquarters, and where cultural organizations design and distribute content for the entire nation. However, Washington, DC is also "The District," a place of neighborhoods, a local school system and unique communities with distinct needs.

An opportunity to explore and discuss the unique opportunities and challenges of organizations in DC that serve both local and national constituencies. Hear from Nik Apostolides, U.S. Capitol Visitor Center; Sarah Jencks, Ford's Theatre; Jeanette McCune, The John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts; Gregory McGruder, National Geographic Society; and Barbara Stauffer, National Museum of Natural History. What does it mean to be a national organization in a local place?

PS: October 30 is the DC Collaborative's 20th Birthday. Gifts can be made here: www.dccollaborative.org/donate/.

RSVP: <http://bit.ly/2irqTzH>

Please join us—
Mon., Oct. 30, 2017

Check-in: 3:30 p.m.

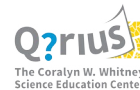

Panel and Networking: 4-6 p.m.

Location: National Museum of Natural History- Q?rius,
The Coralyn W. Whitney Science
Education Center

10th St. & Constitution Ave. NW,
Washington, DC 20560

Smithsonian
National Museum of Natural History

A SPECIAL THANKS TO OUR CO-HOST, NATIONAL MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY

Celebrating 20 Years of Providing Equitable Access to Arts and Humanities Education

975 F Street, NW Washington, DC 20004 • 202.470.6467 • www.dccollaborative.org

