

Plant for the Planet

is holding an Academy for youth grades 4th through 12th
to make a difference in climate change & recovery

Climate Justice Ambassadors plant trees, speak out, and testify at public events.

Date: Saturday, October 7, 2017

Time: 9 am–2 pm

Location: Washington Elementary School, 520 18th St, Sacramento

Who: Open to all kids from 4th through 12th grades; and parents welcome (workshop and volunteers)

Cost: FREE!

Register: tinyurl.com/y788aq9r (space limited so sign up soon)

At a Plant for the Planet Academy, youth teach other youth to become Climate Justice Ambassadors. You will learn:

- * the science of climate change & recovery
- * how climate change impacts people everywhere
- * the importance and how-to of planting trees
- * how to make effective presentations and influence policy

Also:

- * includes a workshop for parents in the morning
- * snacks, lunch, and other goodies for participants

Since 2007, Plant for the Planet has empowered more than 55,000 children in 54 countries to work to stop climate change. We have planted more than 14 billion trees so far! You can make a difference!! Register and invite your friends! tinyurl.com/y788aq9r

Sponsored by 350 Sacramento and Washington Elementary School
For more information contact Laurie: 916-284-1627, info@350sacramento.org

