“Social Media in the Workplace”

Virtually everyone uses social media. The statistics are just astounding, particularly when you consider that social media did not exist a decade ago. Facebook boasts 1.1 billion users; Twitter 500 million users; and LinkedIn 225 million users.

The world is on social media now, and failure to have a strong presence means you might as well live in a cave! Attendees can expect to learn best practices in interacting with coworkers and clients on social media, as well as what is the best strategy for attracting new business and hiring.
