Dear Parents of 11th grade students:

Next year's 11th grade Experiential Learning trip is set to be an amazing program which integrates direct service for the fulfillment of basic human needs coupled with Jewish learning and living. We will be going to Portland Oregon with the Jewish organization Tivnu.

Tivnu is Hebrew for Build. For this experience, Tivnu: Building Justice will be our host and is an organization that facilitates programs for groups to participate in hands-on projects to build community, justice, purpose and fulfill the mitzvah of tikkun olam.

For further information on Tivnu: Building Justice, please click here to visit their website: <http://tivnu.org/>

Location: Portland is one of America's most vibrant and visionary cities. It is a community on the cutting edge of anti-poverty work, green building, urban agriculture, and community empowerment. Tivnu's program will immerse students in this exciting mix, giving them hands-on, up-close experience with grassroots social justice organizations.

Participants will:

- Broaden their understanding of some of today's most pressing social issues, including housing, food, environmental quality, and/or other issues determined in conversation with your synagogue/organization;
- Discover how Judaism, Jewish history, and Jewish sources can be agents of social change;
- Know that their efforts made a difference in the lives of others.

During this experience, students will engage in hands-on work with local organizations such as Friends of Nadaka, The Learning Gardens Laboratory, and Zenger Farms. They work with others, not for them: learning from them, listening to their stories, and moving toward a wider form of justice that embraces us all. Other activities include a visit to the Columbia River Gorge National Scenic Area, a tour of Timberline Lodge on Mt. Hood, a visit to the Portland Japanese Garden, and an evening at Powell's Books. Itinerary subject to change. More details will be sent in the month before the trip.
