Community Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh Sharing Ministry with First Congregational Church of Antioch

FEBRUARY 2017, Issue 2

From the CPC Pastor

Dear Friends,

I saw a play tonight at the San Francisco Playhouse entitled, "The Christians." It's a 90-minute drama that explores the place of faith and unbelief in a congregation's life as the head pastor struggles with the doctrine of hell. The play begins with a real live choir entering and singing as an almost Baptist-like service begins. The pastors, a board elder and the head pastor's wife take their place and the wife helps lead a subsequent song. It's a congregational scene of a megachurch, complete with television screens, as the pastor recounts the history of the church's success.

When the pastor recounts an experience at a pastor's conference where God challenges his ideas on the literalness of hell, he shares how he started going through the Bible and found that many of the passages many people turn to contain references and comparisons to gehenna, the city dump that perpetually burns just outside of Jerusalem – not the Greek conception of Hades or an afterlife. Of course, many in the congregation struggle with this new teaching. Most telling is the confrontation that ensues when his hell-fire and damnation preaching Associate Pastor confronts him publicly and demands a count of the membership that side with either pastor.

Holy church conflicts, Batman! What began as a sharing of a new way of experiencing God's grace and biblical exploration turned into a full-on competition over the so-called orthodoxy of the beloved pastor and the need for a small group in the church to uphold their views of God's judgment on unbelievers.

From the FCCA Pastor

Dear Friends,

Our Meals with Friends group met for lunch after church late in January. At the end of the meal as we were talking about getting together again, we were inspired by other groups to think of things to do in addition to eating. 'Lots of creative ideas have come up for spending time together and getting to know each other better.

So in the middle of that conversation, Chuck Dybdal mentioned a play that was coming up at the California Theater in Pittsburgh. The play, Port Chicago 50, explores the Port Chicago Disaster.

"On July 17, 1944, a massive explosion rocked the segregated Navy base at Port Chicago, California, killing more than 300 sailors who were at the docks, critically injuring off-duty men in their bunks, and shattering windows up to a mile away. On August 9th, 244 men refused to go back to work until unsafe and unfair conditions at the docks were addressed. When the dust settled, fifty were charged with mutiny, facing decades in jail and even execution."

On the California Theater's web page is the following description of the play: "African American Sailors are recruited by the United States Navy to work in a navy shipyard in Port Chicago, CA. where dangerous artillery is loaded onto ships to support WWII. Something goes terribly wrong! Inspired by true events from 1944."

The play is a story of the prejudice that faced black men and women in America's armed forces during World War II. It looks at those who gave their lives in service of a country where they often lacked the most basic rights. The play explores racism and the long, hard fight for civil rights.

Both articles continue on page 2...

Pastor Will continues...

I won't spoil the ending in case any of you wish to see it for yourselves. It offers some great moments of conversation, conflict and going deeper around the dynamics of personal revelation, who get's to decide who is in and who is out and the community dynamics of division when favorite doctrines are questioned. Is Jesus the only way to salvation? What is salvation, then? Can we even agree on that?

The story is similar, but not identical, to the story of the Pentecostal Bishop Carlton Pearson, who, upon careful biblical study changed his mind about God – that God's ultimate impulse towards us all is love and not eternal punishment. Of course, this view would also affect how a person describes atonement theology – how we are made right with God. Did Jesus have to die for us? If so, what does such wrath say about God's love and ability to restore us to our full humanity without violence?

It seems to me that there are eerily similar discussions going on in our national conversation. Does everyone belong? Who deserves to be citizens? What proves our fidelity to our nation? Who get's punished, and why?

In some ways, it's a question of 'Father knows best" and "Bad people have to be penalized in some way to protect the very definition of what is right and wrong" versus "There's enough room, resources and grace for everyone" and "Everyone struggles with everyday decisions that can only be made in their own context." Or, maybe it's even broader than such simplistic dichotomies.

Still, it seems that some people seem hard wired to desire clear categories of right and wrong, some want to know that they belong and are loved, and others are quite comfortable with the diversity of expressions in the human family. Examining our own motivations helps us answer much for ourselves, including who we include and exclude.

Together we serve...

Pastor Will

Pastor Christy continues...

Chuck said he was planning to attend the play on Sunday, February 12th at 4:00pm. A couple of us from our Meal with Friends group will be joining him. And we wanted to extend an invitation to the whole congregation to join us. Details below:

In closing... racism, prejudice, bigotry, and intolerance continue to raise their ugly heads in our country. In response, as a church community we continue to claim our core values of acceptance, inclusivity, diversity and tolerance. We commit to working together to preserve these values in a country where they are threatened.

Blessings,

Christy

Thank You: Many thanks for the generous Christmas money. It is deeply appreciated. 'Wonderful to be sharing ministry. With a grateful heart,
Christy

Friends plan to go to play on Port Chicago

The Meals With Friends group headed by Pastor Christy invites everyone to join it on its excursion to see the play 'Port Chicago 50' at 4 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 12 at the California Theatre.

The play, written by Dennis Rowe, who directs the production, and David Shackleford, a member of the cast, is about the July 17, 1944, explosion at Port Chicago that killed or wounded 710 people, including 435 African American soldiers. It was the deadliest disaster in the Continental U.S. during World War II and accounted for more than 15 percent of all African Americans killed in service to their country during World War II.

The tragedy of Port Chicago continues to haunt Pittsburg, Contra Costa County and the United States today.

Fifty sailors refused to continue to load ammunition and explosives in ships under the same dangerous, unsafe conditions the led to the explosion and were court martialed for mutiny.

One of the sailors, Freddie Meeks, whose story is told in the play, was pardoned by President Bill Clinton in 1999. A bill to pardon the remainder of the sailors is awaiting presidential approval.

The play features Hal Williams, known for his co-starring roles in sitcoms 'Sanford and Son' and '227' as well as numerous roles in movies and TV, as Freddie Meeks, who recalls the explosion and its consequences.

The powerful play includes strong language.

Tickets at $35 for VIP, including a meet-and-greet with the cast; $30 and $25 for students and veterans. Tickets purchased before Feb. 6 at the California Theatre box office at 351 Railroad Ave. are discounted $5.

Fellowship (Coffee) Hour: The sign-up calendar for 2017 coffee hour is posted. Sign up for the dates you want to celebrate, such as anniversaries or birthdays. Help us out to provide that hospitality to all of our friends and visitors.

I know that you find it a bit overwhelming to even think about that. Most Sundays there is an overabundance of food on the table. Some ideas so you don't have to do this alone. You can give preparing coffee hour as a gift for someone; you can get together with your Meals with Friends group and provide together, you can rally your committee members to provide sometimes. The more that help out the easier it is. If you have any question either ask Ginny McGuire or me know.

February 12 and 19 are open dates for someone to lead those coffee hours. Please place your names on the sign-up sheet on the bulletin board in the social hall.

February 5 is Super Bowl Sunday which means it is Souper Bowl Sunday. Bring your money to put in the soup pot to be donated to our Winter Nights Program. We will also be having a variety of soups for coffee hour that day.

February 26 we will have pancakes for Shrove Sunday. Thank you.

- Mary Burks

Meals with Friends: It has been a good few months of breaking bread together in our groups. We will be mixing them up again in February. If you want to be added or taken off the list please let Joan Taylor or Mary Burks know. We will then have new lists for all of you towards the end of the month. In the meantime keep meeting with the group you are in now.

Towel Washing

We have been washing towels for the last 3 years for the folks who are guests of the Winter Nights Program. Some churches the families stay in have showers but most don't. Then the families go to the Oasis Program which is located in the St Vincent DePaul facility on Gladstone in Pittsburgh. ST Ignatius Catholic Church of Antioch and ECSM take turns washing the towels for the 7 months they are in the program. It will be our turn again in March and we need someone to volunteer March 10 and 17. There are usually about 4 loads. You pick them up on Friday afternoon and return them on Monday morning. Please let me know if you are willing and able to do so. Thank you.

Clay Foor Hosts Fund-Raiser Concert

Clayton J. Foor, well known Bay Area singer and songwriter, will perform a fund-raiser concert for us on Sunday, February 19, at 11:45 am. The concert, which is billed as free, will accept donations. One hundred percent of the proceeds will be donated entirely to the work of ECSV.

Foor's music is inspired by pop music of the 60s and 70s, as well as the Great American Songbook, from Sinatra and the Big Band Era. He is a prolific composer and can be seen and heard frequently. Bay Area venues include the Hotel Utah, Bazaar Café and the Freight and Salvage Coffeehouse, plus a variety of piano bars, churches and Nordstrom, where he was a regular pianist for 10 years at both the Stoneridge and Walnut Creek stores. He conducts the East Bay Festival Chorus (EBFC), which performs periodically at many festivals and churches, and sang the National Anthem for the San Francisco Giants at AT&T Park. He has taught music for many years and has influenced hundreds of students over that time.

Foor's concert on the 19th will feature several of those tunes which have influenced him, but will also include many of his original works, which range from sacred to classic. He has performed solely and with the EBFC many times for us. "The congregation here is always welcoming, progressive and inclusive," remarked Foor. "I'd like to give something back for all the support they've given me."

Foor composed his first piece at age eight, and it's been a constant flow of creativity ever since. His outlook is always bright, his attitude always positive and his smile always genuine. The public is invited to share in his joie de vivre and amazing musical talent on Sunday, February 19, at 11:45 am.

About East Bay Festival Chorus

EBFC began as an offshoot of a class taught by Clayton J. Foor in 2001 at Los Medanos College. During the class, the musicians formed a strong bond and decided to continue to meet after completion of the class. That core group still gathers periodically to work with Foor who composes much of the work performed by the group. EBFC is a volunteer group and invites singers of all styles and ranges to join when they gather. A listing of his works can be found on his website at www.claytonjfoor.com.

The New Way Music Team will rehearse on Sunday, February 12, at 11:45 am to begin preparation for celebrating Black History Month on Sunday, February 26.

On Sunday, February 26, we will warm-up at 9 am, and then share our music during the worship celebration. After worship, we will meet at 11:45 am to begin preparing for New Way on Sunday, March 26, as well as Easter Sunday, on April 16.

Those who were on hand Sunday, January 15, expressed great appreciation for these singers under the direction of Michael Miller. Our sanctuary looks so complete when those choir chairs are filled. Please consider singing with us for one month or for the whole year. The music is uplifting, the fellowship is blessed and Michael makes it easy to learn, to sing, and to reach deep into our hearts for that divine connection.
