Book of Remembrance

A message from Rabbi Paul S. Drazen

That dazzling April moon!

There was none that night

And the month was June

That's right. That's right.

It warms my heart to know that you remember still the way you do.

Ah, yes, I remember it well.

I Remember It Well from “Gigi;”

Lyrics: Alan Jay Lerner / Frederick Loewe

Though it was more than a quarter century ago, I still recall a conversation I had with a rabbinic colleague. We were discussing video recording of weddings. He said he discouraged video recording as much as possible. It certainly wasn't an issue of Jewish law, so I asked him, “Why?” His answer was striking, “No one should be forced to recall every mistake or misstep that took place at the wedding. Video recording robs us of the opportunity to select how and what we remember.”

Is there anyone who wouldn't like to be able to edit some uncomfortable or unhappy memories? “I did not catch my heel on the carpet.” “I did not have a stain on that shirt.” “I did not have spectacles so large two people could wear them.” “Someone must have photo-shopped that hair style onto my head, I never wore it that way.” Unless it's for malicious reasons, what's wrong with imperfect memory? Selective memory allows us to edit what causes us pain and focus on the joyful.

We all have a selective memory. None of us remembers things exactly the way others do. I've noticed that when listening to siblings talk about their family memories. From time to time their recollections of life are so different that an outsider could assume that siblings grew up in different homes with different parents or grandparents. Nonetheless, as in the song I Remember It Well, even if we remember differently, it can still warm a heart.

Memory plays an important role on the high holy days. Some of us recall the family swarming at Rosh Hashanah dinner. Others recall the scent of perfume or after shave worn by parents or grandparents. Some recall the tears on loved one's cheeks as they rocked to words of Kol Nidrei or Yizkor. Some recall the hustle and bustle getting to and from (not to mention around in) the synagogue on those busiest of days when we saw people we had not seen since the last high holy days.

At Yizkor, we recall those who have not been with us physically for many many high holy days. Though they are absent, their presence is constantly with us, especially at significant times. We may remember them differently than our siblings or cousins because we've tinkered with our memories: boosting the good and happy thoughts while editing out some of the sadder or more painful ones. As we allow ourselves to tweak what we recall, so we should allow others the same freedom. There is nothing to be gained in the long run, by revisiting events and times that we know are painful to others or ourselves. There is nothing to be gained by arguing about what really happened.

Recalling times past and the people in them can help us build a better future, those are memories we treasure. But more, through our actions, today and tomorrow, we are the ones making memories for others. We can focus on the sad and sorrowful and make that our lasting influence. Or we can live in ways which create fond and warm memories in the hearts of those who will, some day, put our names in a book such as this one.

The way we live our lives should let them easily say, "Ah yes, I remember them well."

THE RABBINICAL ASSEMBLY

זכור

Some people whose parents are living have a custom of leaving the service at this time, but even those who do not yet need to say the personal prayers of remembrance might remain and recite prayers for others as well as join in the communal prayers (beginning on page 292, below).

ADONAI, what are human beings
that You take account of them, mortals that You care for them?
Humans are as a breath, their days like a passing shadow.
In the morning they flourish anew, in the evening they shriveled and die.
Teach us to count each day,
that we may acquire a heart of wisdom.

יהוה, מֹה־אָרֶם וַתְּנַעֲהֹג,
בָּן־אָנוֹשׁ וַתְּחַשְּׁבוֹ.
אָרֶם לְהַבֵּל דָמָה,
וַיְמִיוֹ בַּצְלָעָוֶבֶר.
בְּבָקָר נִצְׁצָה וְחַלָּתָ
לְעֵרֶב יְמֹלֵל וְבָשָׁת.
לִמְנוֹת יְמִינָה פְּנֵי הַוּךְ
וּבְרִיאָה לְבֵב חַכְמָה.

On this solemn day we each make judgments about the quality of our life.
We re-examine our deeds and relationships with our community and with others.
We express our yearnings for a new year, a new beginning, a year during which we commit ourselves to work toward bringing health and peace to all.
We long for a year when individually and communally we shall strive to live in a way that is more reflective of the ideals that we cherish.
Now, in the midst of looking at our life and assessing its quality, we pause to reflect and to remember, and to dedicate ourselves anew.

God is always before me, at my right hand, lest I fall.
Therefore I am glad, made happy, though I know that my flesh will lie in the ground forever.

שְׁוִיתִי יְהוָה לְנִגְדֵי תְּמִיד,
כִּי מַיְמִינִי בְּלִאָמוֹת.
לְכָן שְׁמָחָה לְבִי וּנְגַל
בְּבוֹדֵי, אָף בְּשָׁרֵי יְשָׁפֵן
לְבֶטֶח.

The deaths of those we now remember left holes in our lives. But we are grateful for the gift of their lives and we are strengthened by the blessings that they left us and the precious memories that comfort and sustain us as we recall them this day.

INTRODUCTION. Yizkor is a time set aside to formally include in our thoughts and prayers family and friends who have passed away. Though Yizkor is recited on each of the festivals, on the High Holy Days we may feel a special connection to those who have played a significant role in our life's journey. The themes and somber ambience of the Yom Kippur service make this day especially appropriate for contemplating life and death. Thus, in reciting Yizkor, the veil between the worlds of the living and the dead becomes more transparent, less opaque. May the memory of those we recall be a blessing in our lives.

WHAT ARE HUMAN BEINGS
הָאָנָשׁ. The verses in this passage come from Psalms 144:3–4, 90:6, and 90:12.

GOD IS ALWAYS שְׁוִיתִי יְהוָה.
Psalm 16:8–9.

YIZKOR

When I stray from You,
Adonai, my life is as death;
but when I cleave to You,
even in death I have life.
You embrace the souls of the living and the dead.
The earth inherits that which perishes.
The dust returns to dust; but the soul, which is God's, is eternal.
Adonai is compassionate to all creation, granting us a share in unending life.
God redeems our life from the grave, joining us forever in the unending chain of life.
May we preserve the memory of those we love and are now gone, through charity
in deed and thought.
May we live unselfishly, in truth and love and peace,
so that we will be remembered as a blessing, as we lovingly remember, this day, those who live on in our hearts.

—JULES HARLOW

Backwards and Forwards

Yizkor:
Looking backward, we recall
our ancestry.
Looking forward, we confront our destiny.
Looking backward, we reflect on our origins.
Looking forward, we choose
our path.
Remembering that we are a tree of life, not letting go, holding on, and holding to,
we walk into an unknown,
beckoning future,
with our past beside us.

—HAROLD SCHULWEIS

WE RECALL

Some of us recall parents who watched over us, nursed us, guided us, and sacrificed for us.
Some of us lovingly call to mind a wife, husband, or partner with whom we were truly united—in our hopes and our pains, in our failures and our achievements, in our joys and our sorrows.
Some of us remember brothers and sisters, who grew up together with us, sharing in the play of childhood, in the youthful adventure of discovering life's possibilities, bound to us by a heritage of family tradition and by years of togetherness and love.
Some of us call to mind children, entrusted to us too briefly, to whom we gave our loving care and from whom we received a trust that enriched our lives.
So many of us recall beloved relatives and friends whose affection and devotion enhanced our lives, and whose visible presence will never return to cheer, encourage, or support us.
Though they are gone, we are grateful for the blessings they brought to our lives. We are sustained and comforted by the thought that their presence in our lives remains an enduring blessing that we can bequeath to others.
We can show our devotion to them by our devotion to those ideas that they cherished.
O God of love, make us worthy of the love we have received by teaching us to love You with all our heart and with all our soul and with all our might, and to spread the light of Your divine love on all whose lives touch ours.
Give us strength to live faithfully, for we are cheered by our confidence that You will not permit our lives to be wasted, but will bring all our worthy strivings to live on, even as we may not see their fulfillment.

TZ'AKAH/CHARITY
The Yizkor service was called seder matnat yad, the service of expressing generosity on behalf of those who have died. That name comes from the closing line of the Torah reading for the final day of the pilgrimage festivals (when Yizkor is recited): "Every person giving a gift according to the blessing they have received from Adonai" (Deuteronomy 16:17). Offering charitable gifts and performing acts of justice, love, and care in memory of those who have died provide us with ways of honoring their memory and continuing their influence for good.

Though I stared earnestly at my fingernail

Yesterday when I was on the #7 bus
I happened to look at the cuticle
of my right forefinger
and for a moment
I thought that not it was mine
but that it was my father's—the same small confusion I have
from time to time
when I catch sight
of my daughter
in her denim skirt, size 3,
and I feel lean, willowy,
in her clothes.

So there I was on the #7 bus
overtaken by a longing
very close to love
staring at the cuticle
of my right forefinger.

I remembered how clean and short he kept his nails
and suddenly there was the whole man
reconstituted
from a fingernail
standing before me,
smiling broadly,
his face flushed
with pleasure.

But then just as suddenly
he was gone
and though I stared earnestly
at my fingernail
I failed to bring him back.

Literally, "in the Garden of Eden." We imagine that the soul, which connects all living beings with their divine source, returns, after the death of the body, to God's care.

A Yizkor Meditation
in Memory of a Parent
Who Was Hurtful

Dear God,

You know my heart. Indeed, You know me better than I know myself, so I turn to You before I rise for Kaddish.

My emotions swirl as I say this prayer. The parent I remember was not kind to me. His/her death left me with a legacy of unhealed wounds, of anger and of dismay that a parent could hurt a child as I was hurt.

I do not want to pretend to love, or to grieve that I do not feel, but I do want to do what is right as a Jew and as a child.

Help me, O God, to subdue my bitter emotions that do me no good, and to find that place in myself where happier memories may lie hidden, and where grief for all that could have been, all that should have been, may be calmed by forgiveness, or at least soothed by the passage of time.

I pray that You, who raise up slaves to freedom, will liberate me from the oppression of my hurt and anger, and that You will lead me from this desert to Your holy place.

—ROBERT SAKS

IN MEMORY OF MARTYRS:

May God remember the souls of the martyrs of our people, who gave their lives for the sanctification of God's name. In their memory do I pledge tz'dakah. May their bravery, their dedication, and their purity be reflected in our lives. May their souls be bound up in the bond of life. May they rest in peace forever in God's presence. Amen.

IN MEMORY OF CONGREGANTS:

May God remember the souls of our friends, members of this holy congregation, who have gone to their eternal home. May their souls be bound up in the bond of life. May these moments of meditation strengthen the ties that link us to their memory. May they rest in peace forever in God's presence. Amen.

Exalted, compassionate God, comfort the bereaved families of this congregation. Help us to perpetuate everything that was worthy in the lives of those no longer with us, whom we remember this day. May their memory endure as a blessing. And let us say: Amen.

IN MEMORY OF THE SIX MILLION:

Exalted, compassionate God, grant perfect peace in Your sheltering presence, among the holy and the pure, whose radiance is like the heavens, to the souls of all the men, women, and children of the House of Israel who were slaughtered, strangled, and burned in the Shoah. May they rest in paradise. Master of mercy, may they find eternal shelter beneath Your sheltering wings, and may their souls be bound up in the bond of life. ADONAI is their portion. May they rest in peace. And let us say: Amen.

My Peace

My peace is tied by a thread to yours.

And the beloved holidays and glorious seasons of the year—
with the wealth of
fragrances, flowers,
fruit, leaves, and winds,
the fog and the rain,
the sudden snow
and the dew—
are suspended on a thread
of longing.

I and you and the Sabbath.

I and you and our lives
in the last incarnation.

I and you
and the lie.
And the fear.

And the breaches.

I and you
and the Creator
of the heavens that have no shore.

I and you
and the riddle.

I and you
and death.

IN MEMORY OF ALL THE DEAD:

Exalted, compassionate God, grant perfect peace in Your sheltering presence, among the holy and the pure, whose radiance is like the heavens, to the souls of all those we have recalled today. May their memory be a blessing, and may they rest in paradise. Master of mercy, may they find eternal shelter beneath Your sheltering wings, and may their souls be bound up in the bond of life. ### PSALM 23

A PSALM OF DAVID.

ADONAI is my shepherd, I shall not want.
God gives me repose in green meadows,
and guides me over calm waters.
God will revive my spirit and direct me on the right path—
for that is God's way.
Though I walk in the valley of the shadow of death, I fear no harm, for You are at my side.
Your staff and Your rod comfort me.
You prepare a banquet for me in the presence of my foes:
You anoint my head with oil, my cup overflows.
Surely goodness and kindness shall be my portion all the days of my life,
And I shall dwell in the house of ADONAI in the fullness
of time.

May God's great name be exalted and hallowed throughout the created world, as is God's wish. May God's sovereignty soon be established, in your lifetime and in your days, and in the days of all the House of Israel. And respond with: Amen.

May God's great name be acknowledged forever and ever!

May the name of the Holy One be acknowledged and celebrated, lauded and worshipped, exalted and honored, extolled and acclaimed—though God, who is blessed, b'rikh hu, is truly far beyond all acknowledgment and praise, or any expressions of gratitude or consolation ever spoken in the world. And respond with: Amen.

May abundant peace from heaven, and life, come to us and to all Israel. And respond with: Amen.

May the One who brings harmony on high, bring harmony to us and to all Israel [and to all who dwell on earth].

And respond with: Amen.

CEMETERY SERVICE

At this most sacred season, when we pray for a year of life, health and joy for ourselves and our dear ones, when we pray for the well being of our people and all mankind, our thoughts turn not only to the living, but also to the dead. The Jewish people do not forget their debt to past generations. That may account for their miraculous survival. Perhaps that is why Israel is eternal. A people that remember their past, their traditions, their ideals and hold fast to them, cannot die or vanish from off the face of the earth.

We have come here today to pay our respects to those who, having finished their earthly course, now repose in this consecrated earth. Since we last met here together, we observe that many new graves and monuments have been added, and these have brought fresh sorrow and grief to more families. Here lies at rest a whole generation, an entire community of men, women and children.

Some of us stand beside the grave of a beloved mother or father who gave us life and who, tending and guiding us, shaped our careers and influenced our characters. Some, standing beside the grave of a beloved wife or husband, recall the love and friendship, faith and understanding, trials and griefs, fears and joys they shared in life together. Others, at the grave of a brother or sister, remember how they grew up in happy fellowship, experiencing the adventures of childhood and youth. There are parents who stand beside the grave of a child for whom they toiled and planned, yet who was taken from them in the freshness and vigor of youth. Others stand beside the grave of some dear one who, at call of country, leaving all that was precious and dear, endured hardship, braved danger and gave up life that we who survive might live on in freedom. The hearts of these loved ones beat no more; their voices are stilled; their smiles and self-effacing devotion are but cherished memories.

Life is replete with tragedy. Each of us drains his own private cup of sorrow. Each of us observes other lives snuffed out like flickering candles, lives that have complete their span of years, and –alas! many whose span is curtailed when it has only just begun. But were we to measure, the tribulations and sorrows of life, we would find that the greatest tragedy is not always that of the life which has been taken at its youngest or its sweetest. The greatest tragedy is not always when or in what manner a person dies.

The greatest tragedies occur not only in death but in life. When we who can live do not live; when we who are capable of bringing happiness into the lives of others, instead cause grief through our selfishness; when we who can contribute so richly with our talents, instead fritter them uselessly away; when we who are able to serve our fellow men and alleviate hunger and loneliness, instead live only for ourselves and for what the moment brings us; when we who have pledge our fidelity and love, fail those to whom we are bound by tenderest ties; when homes are broken, love shattered, character ruined and life reduced to its lowest level – then and there are to be found the greatest tragedies of life.

As we think of those who repose here, what is it in their lives that we best remember and most cherish? Is it not their warm smiles, their kindly hearts, their friendly sympathy, their encouraging words, their thoughtful deeds, their lofty hopes? Is it not their love, friendship and devotion; the peace, beauty and serenity of their home life, the teaching and tradition they sought to impart to us? Is it not their devotion to Torah, their delight in performing the Mitzvot, their joy in serving the great community.

God Of Our Fathers and Mothers, as we remember our loved ones, grant that we learn from their lives what to do with our own. Give us of Your wisdom to avoid the tragedy of a wasted, selfish, useless life, and to fill our own lives with noble purpose, consecrated living and worthwhile achievement. Strengthen us to seek the things which death cannot take from us: faith, love, kindness and the riches of a good name. May the memories of our loved ones remain for a blessing and may we so live that future generations shall bless us for the memories we leave with them.

We pay tribute today not only to those who are closest to us but to all who are here interred: neighbors and friends, men and women who gave of themselves in establishing our House of Worship and this Beth Olam, this eternal abode; those who zealously served in the varied needs of our community, who were devoted to Torah and our people in all lands, and who contributed so much through their various professions, careers, and endeavors.

We have grown up with many of them; with some of them we have shared our school and college experiences. Among them were companions, advisors, and intimate friends. With others we planned and toiled for civic and national causes. We mourn them, we miss them, we cherish all they have meant in our lives.

O Lord Our God, grant that the memories of their lives may stir our finer sensibilities and arouse within us the desire to serve You by serving others with kindness and understanding, righteousness and peace.

O, God in whose hand are the souls both of the living and of the dead, we pray You to keep the souls of our beloved ones united with us in the bond of life. In their sacred memory, guide us so that we may live righteously and richly, fulfilling Your will and serving others, with trust in You and in the goodness of life. Thus shall we give life to our departed whose mortal remains here repose but whose souls are united with You, Creator of all.

Oh, may we be worthy to have our names inscribed and sealed in Your Book for many years of happiness and peace.

And when the years of our earthly pilgrimage come to a close, O God, be with us to the end that we may return to You unafraid and unashamed, untroubled and undismayed, fearing no evil for You are with us. And may we so live that we, too, shall be remembered for a blessing unto all.

“The dust returns to earth as it was,
But the spirit returns to god who gave it.”
