Power Leader and Author Debjani Mukherjee Biswas is an NAPW Woman of the Year recipient. She recently completed a US Barnes & Noble book tour. She is an international speaker, business strategist, and the trusted advisor to CEOs and global leaders. A Chemical Engineer from IIT, she also holds an MBA in Marketing –IIM - and a MS in Org. Strategy from UTD. She is a certified Emotional Intelligence practitioner, who consults with leaders around the world on leadership and diversity solutions.

Her first book Unleash the Power of Diversity (Authorhouse, 2013) focuses on multi-cultural competence; her second book Miserably Successful No More (PPG, 2017) on multi style awareness, emotional intelligence and stress solutions. Forthcoming: A Power Paradox: Gender Matters (TBD).

Ms. Biswas' executive and global corporate experience (TAS, TI, Pepsi), coupled with an engineering and management background, results in her innovative, cutting-edge approach. Her application of engineering principles of data harvesting and pattern recognition to emotional intelligence and behavioral change is powerful and unique. President of Coachieve, LLC, Biswas, also serves on the Board of Directors of her engineering alumni organization IIT-NT. A STEM Advocate and active volunteer, she partners closely with the National Alliance for Partnerships in Equity.
