

Life, the Movie

Innovative Arts Programming for Adults 55+

Tell the story of your life with Pennsylvania Council on the Arts' teaching artist duo "The Motion Picture".

Trained in puppetry, videography, musical composition, and television production, our artists will teach the fundamental principles of storytelling, then guide you through innovative creative exercises that will help you tell your life stories (or parts of them) in new and richly conceived ways. Each story will be captured on film, and each participant will receive a DVD of their final product.

The program will run for ten sessions, each an hour in length, and will take place at Millersville University's downtown campus.

You'll be learning from the best--"The Motion Picture's" Julie and Barnaby Holmes are rostered artists with the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts and are trained and experienced in arts-in-education and Creative Aging pedagogies. This year, they were selected into the highly competitive state-wide "University of the Arts" program.
