Dear Friends,

I am proud to announce the launch of our new web site, for Italian Food Products, which is now available in USA. You will be able find select items, which you can order directly from Italy to your house. This joint venture comes from the experience with my good friend Roberto of GastronAmerica, my passion for coffee and the excellence of Italian products that some of you may have already enjoyed. These products represent the accomplishment of our country in terms of quality, health, and nutrition. Currently, the best brand of Italian coffee, organic virgin olive oil, pasta, and other interesting products are available for you to taste. In the near future we will be adding more choices of the Mediterranean diet from other European Countries.

Roberto and I will be happy to answer any questions that you may have.

Please send us feedback and comments.
