Regional TechComm Competition

New York - Philadelphia - Atlanta - Houston - Rochester

Society for Technical Communication

Be recognized for your best Technical Documentation work!

The STC TechComm Competition is now accepting print and online entries in these categories:

- Instructional
- User Support
- Informational
- Promotional

The deadline for entries is Wednesday, November 15, 2017.
For more information and instructions on how to enter, visit http://www.stcnymetro.org/home/competitions/competition-entries.

The STC Regional TechComm Competition advances the field of technical communication by recognizing outstanding work. The awards recognize professional peers and increases visibility of compelling technical communication with employers and clients.

Many entrants submit their work primarily to receive feedback from a panel of independent and experienced judges on how to improve their work. They treat the feedback as a valuable benefit.

Awards will be announced in February 2018. We are planning a Joint STC Regional TechComm Roadshow and to publish winners' stories in the STC website/ and technical publications.

The STC New York, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Houston and Rochester chapters are proud of this collaboration and continued success in educating clients and employers about what technical communicators do and the value we provide.

Questions? Send them to competition@stcnymetro.net.