

Fresh Ideas for Religious Education

Spring time is the perfect time to share new ideas about religious education. This year we used a new curriculum to reinforce an old idea that is close to many of us: social justice. As we begin to plan for next year, we would be happy to hear thoughts from our congregation and parents about themes you would like to see, projects you may know about in the community our children can participate in, and ways to make the program more enjoyable for children and teachers alike. This is your congregation, your children's spiritual foundation. We can't do it without you! Please email me at dre@mpuuc.org or find me after a service to set up a time to discuss ideas. All are welcomed.
