1. Going Digital to Rescue Food NY Times, 05/02/17. By some estimates, about 40% of all food in America is wasted. Organizations like Food Rescue US, Rescuing Leftover Cuisine, City Harvest New York, and Feeding America have created apps that connect food that will be wasted and hungry people. A new think tank for food waste called ReFED finds that consumer education campaigns, better labeling of food dates, and half-serving packaging can reduce food waste. The organizations Ugly Fruit and Veg, Imperfect Produce, Hungry Harvest, and Misfits rescue misshapen produce that would have otherwise gone to waste.
