

THE BIRMINGHAM BAR VOLUNTEER LAWYERS PROGRAM

50 judges, attorneys, and law students help 286 homeless clients at Project Homeless Connect!

Thank you to the judges, attorneys, and law students who volunteered their skills and expertise with the Birmingham Bar Volunteer Lawyers Program to help 286 homeless clients overcome legal issues at Project Homeless Connect on July 23rd.

Kathy Collier, from Balch & Bingham, said volunteering was rewarding because she was "doing just a little bit to help homeless people deal with some of the obstacles in their lives standing in the way of getting housing or employment or otherwise moving forward."

Angie Smith, president of the Birmingham Bar Volunteer Lawyers Program, volunteered at the event and was impressed by the amount of judges, attorneys, and law students who also took part. "I was moved by the amount of volunteers who were working hard on a Saturday to help people be productive citizens," Smith said.

Please take time to thank the volunteers listed below.
