Students at The Children’s Center recently enjoyed an afternoon of Water Play, one of the center’s summer program activities.

Children had an opportunity to play with beach toys, rubber ducks, and sinking rings while splashing in water bins and sprinklers.

“This is great because it gives them a chance to get outside and have fun in the water,” Coach Michelle, a Gym Teacher at the Center explained. “It benefits their senses because they get to feel the different textures of water and the splashing builds up their strength.”

Student Bohdan giggled after he splashed water on his teachers.

“The children love it and they have so much fun,” Coach Michelle smiled. “They love splashing us most of all.”
