In preparation for our 15th Annual Teaching for Social Justice Curriculum Fair whose theme is Defund Policing: Fund Schools and Communities, we invite you to join us to dialogue on “Are police necessary?”

We will analyze the historical and current context from a systemic perspective and consider alternatives to policing. We seek to contribute to the ongoing conversations about the relationships between policing, funding our schools and communities, racism, state violence, and capital accumulation.