What are Sibshops?

Sibshops are celebrations of the many contributions made by sisters and brothers of kids with special health care needs. These workshops for "typical" siblings combine recreation, information and discussion. Kids age 8-14 attending Sibshops enjoy a lively, relaxed event that emphasizes a kids-eye view of sibling issues.

Sibshops are guided by trained Sibshop facilitators. Thanks to funding from the Women's Fund for the Fox Valley Region, Sibshops in this Catalpa series are FREE.

Kids growing up with brothers or sisters with mental health issues can get pretty isolated and even forgotten. Sometimes it feels like no one understands.

Sibs often have more responsibility than other kids their age. They can nervously wait while their siblings recover from seizures, episodes, or go through treatment.

Like parents, they worry. They fear what they don't know or understand. They are often quietly brave.

At Sibshops, sibs have a great time. They meet other kids who share many of the same feelings. They talk about the challenges and hear how other kids deal with things. They play. They get information. They make friends.
