

APRIL 28, 2017 WORKING BENEATH THE SURFACE TO CREATE A BETTER WORLD

How to Use Organizational and Societal Dynamics for Social Justice

A One Day Professional Development Workshop with Frances Unsell and Richard Morgan-Jones

Learn essential—yet often overlooked—theories and exercises that can be used in the workplace to garner insights into complex and confusing situations and help practitioners better withstand sustained pressures. In this workshop, you will:

- Identify the prevailing cultural and attitudinal trends that are impacting your work
- Examine the frameworks that lead to informed leadership decisions
- Participate in an interactive case study as a basis for purposeful and practical action

Date: Friday, April 28th     Time: 10 am - 4:30 pm

Location: Union Theological Seminary (at 121st Street and Broadway)

Cost: $250 (includes lunch)     Register By: Friday, April 7th

Richard Morgan-Jones is a psychoanalytic psychotherapist, organizational and group relations consultant with 45-years of experience in these fields.

Frances Unsell is an organizational consultant, psychoanalyst, and Presbyterian minister with 35-years of experience advising organizations and senior leaders working for social change and the common good.
