The Kiwanis Club of Valley Alabama is pleased to announce that Three On A String will be performing in a never before seen concert of its' type in Valley, Alabama. Three on a String, which has now grown into four, celebrates 45 years in the entertainment business, a remarkable feat in today's fast changing society.

They have performed with symphony orchestras in several states including a nine city tour with the Alabama Symphony. They have opened for many top stars including Red Skelton, Barbara Mandrel, Jeff Foxworthy, George Lindsey, Ray Stevens and many more.

Three on a String are talented musicians with a terrific gift for comedy. Bobby Horton started taking trumpet lessons as a child and eventually became proficient at more than 20 instruments including the banjo, dobro, mandolin, guitar, violin/fiddle, and the Irish pipes. He has worked with PBS producer Ken Burns on at least ten documentaries including "The Civil War", "Lewis and Clark" and "Baseball" and is in constant demand for his musical presentation of Civil War music on the college lecture circuit. But he still finds time to tour with Three on a String.

This performance is a fund raiser for the Kiwanis Club of Valley, a subsidiary club of Kiwanis International, which is a 501-C3 charitable organization.
