

Welcome to the Sermon Based Life Group Lesson that can help you lead a great group Bible study and discussion time based on the sermon you heard last week at NEW RIVER.

Discussion time for week of April 23, 2017

TOPIC: Nehemiah

THOUGHTS: The Old Testament story of Nehemiah is a story of God building back or restoring fellowship and blessing with His people. Pastor Jeff shared an intro to the story this week and we will dig into the actual text of Nehemiah from the Bible next week. This week, use the passage from Psalm 80 to discuss having a heart that is ready for ways God wants to rebuild things in us as believers and as a church.

PSALM 80

In his prayer that the Lord would restore and save Israel, the psalmist lamented the awful calamity brought on them by their enemies. He described the blessing and cursing of the nation as a vine that flourished and was then destroyed. He repeated the refrain (vv. 3, 7, 19) that God should turn and save them.

A. Appeal to Israel's Shepherd (80:1-3)

80:1-2. The psalmist appealed to the Lord, the Shepherd (cf. 23:1; 28:9) of His people, the sheep, to help the tribes in their distress. The Lord is pictured sitting enthroned in the temple above the gold-covered cherubim (cf. 99:1; 1 Kings 6:23-28) over the ark of the covenant. Joseph, representing the Northern Kingdom, and Benjamin, representing the Southern Kingdom, were Rachel's two sons; Ephraim and Manasseh, Joseph's sons, were her grandsons.

80:3. The psalmist then prayed that God would restore and save His people by His grace. This refrain recurs in verses 7, 19. The concept of divine favor is expressed by the image of one's face shining on another, like a beaming countenance of approval (cf. Num. 6:25; and comments on Ps. 4:6).

B. Discipline from God (80:4-7)

80:4-7. The psalmist lamented the fierce discipline God had brought on His people. He cried out to God, asking how long (cf. comments on 6:3) His anger would be directed against them. The situation was as if God (like a Shepherd) had been feeding His people tears. He had brought painful calamity on them so that they wept uncontrollably (expressed in hyperbole that their tears were drunk by the bowlful). But the most painful aspect of God's chastening was that Israel's enemies mocked them (cf. 79:10).

Again the refrain expressed the desire that God would restore His people by His favor (cf. 80:3, 19).

C. Removal of blessing (80:8-14b)

80:8-11. The psalmist pictured Israel as a vine that God brought from Egypt and planted in the land. It flourished so that it spread to the mountains in the south, to the cedars of Lebanon in the north, to the Sea (the Mediterranean to the west) and to the River (the Euphrates) on the east.

80:12-14b. However, this prosperity had withered. By a rhetorical question the writer lamented that God had broken down the walls of the nation to enable others to plunder her. The Hebrew word for "walls" (also used in 89:40; Isa. 5:5) does not mean city walls but walls around vineyards. The enemies who plundered Israel are here described as boars and beasts.

The figure of Israel as a vine may have been prompted by Genesis 49:22. It is used also in Isaiah 5:1-7; 27:2-6; Jeremiah 2:21; 12:10; Hosea 10:1. Jesus spoke of Himself as a Vine (John 15:1, 5) for He, being the promised Seed, represented and fulfilled God's purposes for Israel. Where she failed, He succeeded.

The first two lines of Psalm 80:14 are a refrain similar (but different in wording) to verses 3, 7, 19.

D. Promise of obedience (80:14c-19)

80:14c-16. Asaph continued to speak of the vine, lamenting that the root that had been planted and the son who had grown had been destroyed (cut down). "Son," a literal rendering of the Hebrew, refers to the nation that sprang from "the root." So "son" could be rendered "branch" (cf. NIV marg.). Again (cf. comments on v. 12) this imagery may come from Genesis 49:22. The Hebrew term "son" is also used for the nation in Exodus 4:22 and Hosea 11:1. Again the New Testament (Matt. 2:15) applied a prophet's words (Hosea 11:1) to Christ the Seed as the Representative of Israel.

80:17-19. The psalmist prayed that God's hand would restore them. The man at Your right hand may allude to Benjamin, which means "son of the right hand." The son of man refers to Israel (again as a son). Asaph said that if God would bless His own, the people would be faithful to Him.

Once more the psalm includes the refrain which requests that God would restore His people by His favor (cf. vv. 3, 7).
