A Time For Everything....

A Farewell to St. Paul's from Pastor Chad

In the book of Ecclesiastes, we are reminded by the author that there is a time and a place for everything under heaven. He says there is “a time to rejoice and a time to mourn, a time to be born and a time to die.” And while it may not say it directly, there is a time to say hello and a time to say goodbye. In October of 2011 my family and I traveled to St. Paul’s to say hello and welcome a new community and era in our life. It was a new day for all of us. I was overwhelmed with your kindness, your embrace of my children, and your readiness to get to work in building on a new future for St. Paul’s. Here we stand nearly 6 years later and as I type this final newsletter article to you, we are all seeking God’s strength for a way to say a proper farewell. I will be the first to admit that leaving, change, and saying farewell does not come naturally or easily for this pastor. I reckon that it does not come easily for any of us. And yet, it is imperative that we do it well and with Christ as the center of our hope and faith. While we still have a few more worship services left together and while I may not express this perfectly, I hope this final note from me can at the very least offer a reminder to each of you of my fondness for you, the people of St. Paul’s Church.

As Rich Mason drove me around Alexandria and the surrounding area of Campbell County I asked him one of the most important questions I would ask during my visit. I asked, “So, Rich, is it a pre-requisite that I be a UK fan in order to be your pastor?” After a brief pause, a smile came over his face and he responded, “Well.....I suppose it isn’t a must, but it would sure help. I’m sure that we would welcome you either way.” Boy, was he right. I can imagine that you all likely had your suspicions of this Louisville Cardinals fan, Illinois born, vegan, ear pierced, former United Methodist outsider. I get it. I was not from Campbell County and the unknown can be scary. And yet, you welcomed me as one of your own. You offered to care for my kids when we needed a sitter. You asked if we needed help moving in. You provided my family with a beautiful welcome basket filled with local area gift cards to things we might want to explore. You welcomed me into your homes, your hospital rooms, your driveway basketball courts, and into moments of grief. When a tornado came whirling through our county in my first couple of months, destroying homes of those in our parish, together we picked up debris and offered supplies. We sang the hymns of the faith, took the sacraments, ushered in the resurrection, and I was offered a lawn chair for which I would find myself marching down Washington Street with as Barb Fausz shouted through a megaphone, "We offer real wine." It was as if the fact that I was a Louisville fan didn't matter because what was binding our hearts together was our united faith in Jesus Christ.

The book of Ecclesiastes is correct to remind us that life is filled with passages of time and I believe that this is present in our bible to remind us to pay attention to these changing realities in our lives. We are not fond of change. We want everything to stay the same. But God has so ordered the world that things are always changing, that life is a constant cycle circling back upon itself over and over again. Generations of people who have influenced the life of St. Paul's church have lived and died passing on the faith to another generation. This generation of faithful saints will, indeed, pass on our faith to a generation that comes after us. Your pastors will not stay forever and will move on to other ministries. And, in the end, what we have is the gift of gratitude. We can express to God and one another just how thankful we are for these moments we have had together.

And beyond that gratitude, we can take what we have learned, what has inspired us, and build upon the growth that has taken place in our time together. Indeed, I will be entering a new phase of my career in ministry as a UCC pastor and there are so many things I have learned here that will shape who I am becoming. In fact, I am going to serve where I am because of how you all have shaped me and I am thankful. You too, friends, will take some of the things I have shared with you and our mutual ministry together into a new phase. God has been preparing you for this moment and where we have come over 6 years will endure towards the next 6 and beyond. But, before we ever get to those new journeys, there is a moment of farewell and release that we must share and that is essential to our health as people of faith and people in ministry.

My final Sunday with you will be April 23rd as we share in worship and a farewell gathering. This is not saying goodbye. This is a public acknowledgement and celebration of the ways in which God has been at work in our midst as we have shared in ministry together. It is, also, a moment of release where we both acknowledge and release one another from the covenant we agreed upon back in 2011. Near the end of that service on the 23rd we will all participate in a ritual of release where we offer one another love, gratitude, support, and encouragement as we depart in peace from our ministry obligations and covenant with one another. I will vow to relinquish my pastoral connection and duties to you as a congregation so that your next pastor can fully immerse himself or herself to your service. And you also will vow to release me and promise to allow me to be fully committed to my new setting of service. I will admit, this is hard work. When we have been so united and tied together in reliance, counsel, and mutual ministry, it is hard to release one another. And yet, this is what we must do for the health of us all.

After my final Sunday with you, my ministry at St. Paul's will end and I will no longer be available for service with you. I won't be doing visits, taking your calls for assistance, offering counsel and care, weddings or funerals, or helping prepare items for worship. For a period of a year I will remove myself from direct communication with you, particularly as it relates to anything to do with the ministry of St. Paul's Church. This act allows for your new pastor to have your full attention and it sets boundaries that are necessary for each of us to transition into our new journeys. I hope you understand that this is done not out of any personal distrust of the people at St. Paul's. In the United Church of Christ, this step is necessary and an intricate part of our transitional process as pastors in being faithful to our pastoral code of ethics. It is because I love you all so much and want what is best for you that this time of release is necessary. I trust you all into God's hands as I pray for your new leadership and the current lay leadership to move forward into a new future. I hope you will pray the same for me in my new journey.

In my final newsletter article, I wish to thank each of you for covenanting with me and my family in ministry. For all of you who were leaders from president on down, I am thankful that you have given of yourself and been my source of support as your pastor. I am so thankful to the Staff Parish Committee who sat with me through some hardships, listened to my concerns, helped me make some hard decisions, and lifted me up when I was down. Thank you to the staff, Ben, Darlene, Melinda, and Craig. I love that we could get work done and still have a sense of humor together, and I will miss working with you. Thank you to each of you who cared for my kids. I know they can be a handful at times, but they fell in love with you all from the beginning. They have known the love of a church because of your kindness to them and your extravagant welcome both on Sunday mornings and in your homes. I know that Shannon is grateful that you allowed her to sing with her amazing voice and allowed her to practice yoga with many of you. She is a true gift to the Church and you reminded her that she is needed. And thank you for welcoming me. I know that I have not lived my calling perfectly and each time I fell short became a growing edge for me to learn from. Know that the mistakes I made were all mine and I can only pray for your forgiveness and grace.

These final words are tough, but necessary. It is necessary because now has come the time to wish you all farewell. Please know that I will pray for you. One journey is coming to an end and another one begins for us both. May the God of all peace offer you strength for the journey and may you know that I will always carry you with me in my pastoral and spiritual journey. Blessings to each and every one of you.

With Gratitude,

Pastor Chad

Recycle Pill Bottles! In developing countries, medications (when actually obtainable) are often dispensed into hands, pockets, leaves or any other available container. We can help improve healthcare quality in developing nations by donating clean pill bottles to help the poor: medicine can be distributed in sterile containers. Please bring your empty pill containers [prescription bottles, large & small, with and without child resistant caps, and over-the-counter pill bottles] for recycling to help others and keep thousands of bottles out of landfills each year! And, by placing a nickel, dime or quarter in each bottle helps with shipping costs. You can drop them in the collection box by the front door of the church. Thank you!

PLASTIC BAGS

We are collecting plastic grocery bags again. The bags can be left in Fellowship Hall on the table provided.

COUNTY MARKET RECEIPTS

Since Women's Guild is no longer functioning, The Bell Choir is collecting County Market receipts. Please save them if you shop there and give them to any member of the Bell Choir or put them in the offering. They do expire in 6 months so don't save them too long before bringing them to church! Thanks!

Care Packages

Care Packages are a wonderfully thoughtful way to provide some basic necessities for our parents during this very stressful time. When a child is ill and headed off to the hospital, parents may not think about packing things as basic as a bar of soap. Their thoughts are only on making sure their child gets well. Your kindness in the gift of small toiletry items will help make their time away from home more comfortable.

We are always in need of Basic, Dental, Shaving and Laundry packs. Please use clear, Ziploc bags and include one travel-sized or single use item of each.

Basic
soap or body wash
shampoo conditioner
body/hand lotion

Dental toothpaste
dental floss
mouthwash

Shaving
disposable razors (1 or 2)
shaving cream

Laundry
Detergent (HE only)
Fabric softener

Other appreciated items that do not require packaging include:

- Any full-size of items listed above
- Toothbrushes
- Hand sanitizer
- Hand wipes
- Travel tissues
- Deodorant (male & female)
- Manicure sets
- Q-tips
- Facial cleanser
- Facial moisturizer
- Hairspray
- Hair gel
- Combs or brushes
- Q-tips
- Cotton balls
- Band aids
- Bubble bath
- Contact lens solution

Please note that we cannot accept any items that may be considered medicinal (i.e. cough drops or cortisone creams).

Care Packages can be dropped off at our House any day between 9 AM and 9 PM. There is no need to call ahead unless you'd like to have a tour. (Visit our website for tour information <http://www.rmhcinncinnati.org/about/our-house/photo-tour>.)

- Don't forget to fill out a donation form and/or have school community service forms signed while you are here. ***No community restitution or court ordered volunteers can be accepted.***
- Community service hours are not awarded for the purchase and donation of pre-packaged care kits.
- Each individual who completes up to 25 packages may be awarded a maximum of 2 hours of service. There is no additional time awarded for more Care Packages, nor will 2 hours be given to all members of a group completing just 25 packages.

For the safety of our children and parents, ALL participants of this program and visitors to our House should be healthy, i.e. free from fever, cough or colds, or stomach virus symptoms. Please remember to wash your hands before assembling packages.
