

THE ANGLICAN THEOLOGICAL REVIEW is pleased to announce the

CHARLES HEFLING STUDENT ESSAY COMPETITION

The winning essay will be published as an article in the ATR, and the author will receive a prize of $750.

Essays on any topic of interest to readers of the ATR are eligible. Special consideration will be given to submitted essays that further the journal's commitments to creative engagement with Christian tradition and to interdisciplinary inquiry that includes literature and the arts, philosophy, and science. Papers written to fulfill course requirements, as well as essays arising from independent study, are welcome.

ELIGIBILITY

The Hefling Prize is limited to students enrolled in a Master's-level degree, diploma, or certificate program at an ATR Supporting Institution:

Berkeley Divinity School

Bexley Hall Seabury Western Seminary Federation

Bloy House, The Episcopal Theological School at Claremont

Church Divinity School of the Pacific

College of Emmanuel and St. Chad

Episcopal Divinity School

Episcopal Studies Program, Candler School of Theology, Emory University

Seminary of the Southwest

Huron University College

The General Theological Seminary

Nashotah House

Virginia Theological Seminary

St. Paul University

The School of Theology, University of the South

Trinity College

Trinity School for Ministry

Vancouver School of Theology

Wycliffe College

SUBMISSIONS

Submissions for the Hefling Prize should be sent as a word processing file in an e-mail attachment to

ATRsubmissions@gmail.com
and should include:

- ◆ a cover letter giving the author's name and postal and e-mail addresses;
- ◆ a précis of the essay, in 150 words or less; and
- ◆ an essay of about 5,000 words in length, and not exceeding 7,500 words, including notes.

To ensure anonymity in judging, the author's name should appear only on the cover letter.

DEADLINE

The deadline for submitting an essay to this year's competition is JUNE 15, 2017.

atr

ANGLICAN THEOLOGICAL REVIEW

www.anglicantheologicalreview.org