

HPAR points are earned through professional development. These activities are logged under the broad categories of Continuing Education, Scholarly Accomplishments, and Professional Contributions.

If recertifying your CHPN®, CHPPN®, CHPLN®, CHPCA®, or CPLC® through the HPAR method in 2017, please remember that you have the option to choose whether you'd like to claim a total of at least 10 HPAR points through Scholarly Accomplishments and/or Professional Contributions OR attain 20 additional Continuing Education HPAR points.

Please utilize the grids below as a tool to help determine the number of HPAR points needed for successful recertification, depending on how you've earned your professional development activities.
