

A New School Year Begins

The 2017-2018 school year began on August 8 with nearly 1,400 excited students descending upon the KDS campus. School maintenance staff and administrators spent the summer preparing for another school year, and their hard work paid off, as everything was 'ready to go' for the big day.

Everyone at KDS is excited in their own way for a most successful school year!

(Left) The Pre-K classes begin their patriotic education early by learning to say the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

(Right) Deana Osmer's kindergarten class made hats declaring they "rocked the first day of kindergarten".

The playground is always a great place for elementary students to burn some energy.

(Below) The high school art classes are taking part in the 'Grant Rocks' project by painting encouraging words and pictures on rocks to share with others.

Middle School P.E. students joined in an old fashion game of dodgeball to get their hearts pumping and their bodies moving at school.

This year the high school plans to focus on responsible social media use as shown on this bulletin board in the hallway of the Burkey Center.
