

Elementary Students Celebrate 100 Days

Each year the KDS Elementary students and their teachers look forward to the 100th day of school and the fun ways they will celebrate this milestone. Activities and lessons in this theme unit provide opportunities for students to practice math and sharpen their observational skills.

The teachers helped the students celebrate the 100th day with counting activities in the classroom. They also asked students to consider what might go on in their lives 100 days and 100 years from now.

Some students dressed up as if they were 100 years old and others dressed to commemorate the 100 days of fun they have had during this school year. Others decorated shirts with 100 items or fun sayings about 100.

These students were very festive wearing the 100 Days of School hats they made in class.

The classes had snacks of different foods that could count up to 100 pieces.

These kids had on fun shirts their parents made saluting their Kindergarten teacher Deedee Eller, proclaiming 'Mrs. Eller has survived 100 days of my awesomeness and sassiness.'
