

KDS High School Holds College Fair

On Thursday, September 7, DAR High School held its fifth annual College Fair in conjunction with Open House. Nearly one hundred parents and students were in attendance to visit with teachers as well as college representatives, military recruiters and financial aid representatives. High School Principal Stacy Anderton welcomed everyone and gave a brief report about the beginning of the new school year.

Afterwards attendees were encouraged to visit with their student's teachers and stop by the college fair held in the Burkey Center Gymnasium, all the while eating Dreamland Bar-B-Que courtesy of the National Guard.

Colleges and universities represented included University of Alabama at Huntsville, Troy University, University of Alabama in Birmingham, University of West Alabama, Jacksonville State University, Samford University, Birmingham Southern, University of Montevallo, Snead State Community College, Northeast Community College and the University of North Alabama.

The U. S. Marines, U. S. Navy, and National Guard recruiters were also present to answer questions. Each booth had handouts available as well as giveaways to help students as they begin making after-high-school plans.
