

A SPECIAL FUNDRAISER FOR TALITHA KUM!!

In the Fall of 2016, the Seventh and Eighth Grade art classes at Immaculate Conception School studied contemporary artist, Sue Coccia, known for her Animal Spirit artwork. Her intricate pen and ink drawings are inspired by animal images from around the world, raising awareness for the animal's need for protection from loss of habitat. She sells her ink drawings grouped together into coloring books. Knowing how popular adult coloring books are right now, we decided to create and sell collaborative coloring books from each class to raise money for Talitha Kum, the girls orphanage in Colombia with which we have an interactive relationship. Inspired by Sue Coccia, each class voted on a theme and created their drawings. We hope you will consider purchasing one or all four coloring books filled with the beautiful drawings by our 7th and 8th Grade students to help support a good cause. One hundred percent of the funds will go directly to helping the girls at Talitha Kum.

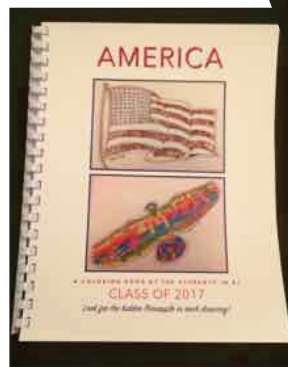

Thank you for your consideration, Karen McBride, Art Teacher
