

It's Sad to Miss Out

From time to time, we are mystified when all our tracking records indicate we are correctly sending messages through Constant Contact, but a mentor does not receive them. The best examples are the monthly Mentor Minute and the monthly training invitations. While most often the fix is the easy one of recommending they check their Spam Filters, first we have to discover that the mentor is missing out.

Would you be so kind as to ask colleagues and friends who are Seedling mentors if they received today's newsletter? And if the reply is no, please ask the mentor to let us know. Thank you.
