This compelling and rarely seen documentary film tells the story of the five Frieder brothers, Jewish businessmen manufacturing cigars in pre-WWII Manila, who helped 1,200 Jews escape the Nazis and immigrate to the Philippines. Working with the president of the Philippines; the US High Commissioner, and an ambitious Army Colonel named Dwight Eisenhower, they saved many lives.

Following the screening, the audience will have the opportunity to meet and speak with Richard and Samuel Frieder, whose father was one of the five brothers; and Peggy Ellis, co-producer of the film and a granddaughter of another Frieder brother.

This program is free and open to the community.
