**EZ Vent-N-Closure** – Custom Metal Components, Inc. is a research and development company on a mission to help the contractor achieve greater results, in less time, increasing their effectiveness and profitability of their projects. We accomplish this by developing innovative solutions to some of the contractors' most problematic issues. An example of this is our unique, continuous ventilation/closure system designed for most metal roofing applications. It solves the problems associated with ventilation of the ridge and hip conditions of metal roofing projects and conventional foam closure failure.
