LENT-

Most of us associate Lent with a time of sacrifice, of giving up some bad virtue or habit as we think upon the unimaginable sacrifice of Christ giving his life for each of us. But the season of Lent has always been rooted in the idea of spiritual renewal, reflection and growth. It embodies wilderness journeys, spaces of quiet solitude, and spiritual introspection about where our faith lives have taken us... or if they've run off course completely.

I came across a quote last week by a fellow minister, "I honestly believe that the greatest hindrance to the mission of Jesus is the busyness of his agents." We are, almost all of us, busy, too busy. Lent calls us to slow down, to consider, to think about this calling God gives to each of us as disciples with this one life we are given. How are we using it? What have we/are we doing with the gifts God has given to us?

This year we are going to try something I have participated in, in a former church. We will hold midweek worship from 6-6:45 pm every Wednesday between Ash Weds (Ash Weds. Service is 7:30 pm) Until Holy Week, where our weekday services will be (Maundy Thursday 7:30 pm and Good Friday 7:30 pm)- location Two Way Street Coffee House. Come, experience Lent and consider taking a deeper spiritual plunge with God this season in new growing edges for your faith. Then stay for soup suppers each week starting at 6:30 pm in Fellowship Hall. But come, and let Lent change you.

FCLC

After twenty five years of faithful service to our Family Life and First Congregational Learning Center Preschool our church says a heartfelt farewell to Radika Jungwirth as our FCLC Administrative Assistant. As the school and DCFS requirements have grown so have demands on our FCLC staffing model. The ministry brought in a new full time Assistant Director this year to help with classroom and Director coverage as the school now has fifty two students and near full capacity enrollment. Radika will continue to be involved with the school both as our first call regular substitute and with wider FCLC events as she welcomes her grandson into the program this fall.

Members of the church are encouraged to come join us in thanking Radika and honoring her years of service at a special celebration for her on May 4th at 6pm. The event will likely be in Fellowship Hall or the Chapel.

Associate Minister of Christian Ed & Teaching

This month I began a new chapter of my own faith journey as I accepted the call as Associate Minister of this beloved community. In just these two short weeks I've participated in weekly worship planning; visited with both the Apostles & Disciples Confirmation Classes; shared leading communion along with Pastor Scott during Sunday worship; unexpectedly mastered the art of grilled cheese on that huge kitchen stove before sending our High School group off for the Winter Retreat, skiing & snow-boarding in Wisconsin; led a Grounds of Hope service in the Two-Way Street Coffee House, and nearly preached a sermon extemporaneously for the first time!....Thank Goodness I didn't actually have to do that! Needless to say, these first two weeks on board have been quite the whirlwind.

My email & phone are up and running and my office has become a 'new home' of sorts...I owe a special debt of gratitude to all who made it possible for my office set-up to go so smoothly, Pastor Scott, Carl, Leslie, Tom, Sean, Kim & Dick...and no doubt there were more behind the scenes... Thank you! Please don't be shy – I'm not...feel free to drop by for a visit anytime during the week; I look forward to our getting acquainted. I promise to bring my whole heart, mind and soul to this ministry and will keep my heart open to the Spirit's luring as we journey forward together.

May God's abundant blessings of wisdom, courage, peace and joy abound as we embark together on this new beginning!

Faithfully, Pastor Kim+

Caring for Creation

What Happens When I Throw Away Clothing or Shoes?

Reduce, Reuse, Recycle. We see these words, and we think of bottles, cans, and paper products. But let's apply these practices to clothing, shoes, and household textiles, because Americans throw away 26 billion pounds of clothing and textiles per year – that's 70 pounds of clothing per person, and 5.2% of the waste stream. And while 95% of unwanted clothing and textiles can be re-used or recycled, 85% ends up in a landfill, where it slowly degrades, releasing greenhouse gases, and leaching chemicals, which may seep into groundwater if the landfill is not sealed properly.

The EPA estimates that textile recycling has a greater impact on reducing greenhouse gases than recycling yard waste, glass or plastic. Recycling those 26 billion pounds of clothing is the equivalent of taking 7.3 million cars and their carbon dioxide emissions off the road. So what happens to the clothing that is recycled?

- 45% is reused as apparel in the US or abroad
- 30% is repurposed as rags or wiping clothes for commercial or industrial use
- 20% is reprocessed into upholstery fill, insulation, or carpet
- 5% is unusable due to mildew or other contamination

Fortunately, there are many places where we can recycle clothing, shoes, and textiles – local thrift stores, some retailers, and during the month of March our church will recycle denim.

Savers (2900 Highland Avenue, Downers Grove) takes clothing and household textiles – even single socks and tattered clothing is accepted and recycled. See www.savers.com/donate

Goodwill Store and Donation Center (110 Ogden Avenue, Downers Grove) recycles clothing and textiles.

In March bring your old denim jeans, shorts, jackets, or shirts to church, and the Caring for Creation team will take this to the Madewell store in Oak Brook mall, which participates in the Blue Jeans Go Green initiative. If you miss the March drive, Madewell is accepting denim for recycling all year long.

Other retailers accept clothing for recycling. H&M and Levi Strauss will take any brand of clothing or shoes. Patagonia will recycle only Patagonia clothing.

In addition to recycling, here are a few more things you can do:

First of all, buy less, and save money, closet space, and ultimately landfill space. Consider how many times you will actually wear the garment, and what will happen to it after you're done with it.

When you do buy clothes, look for durable, classic styles that will last multiple years. Shop resale shops – Elite Repeats on Ogden Avenue in Westmont carries designer labels.

Repair your clothing. Many dry cleaners or tailor shops repair seams and minor rips.

Wash your clothes less – not only will they last longer, but you'll save energy - 80% of the energy consumption of a garment is in washing and drying.

Thank you! You can invite a friend, mom, grandmother, sister, cousin, aunt or next door neighbor too! Don't forget: Husbands and children get into the Arboretum FREE that day with you (but not in the retreat). They can have fun throughout the area and have lunch in the café.*

Blessings, Jan Barker - Director of Children's Ministries.

Bridge Communities !

Bridge Communities was founded in 1988 and has grown to provide housing, mentor training, financial literacy, employment coaching, counseling, nutrition workshops, and family programming to over 130 DuPage County homeless families each year. About 95% of Bridge clients are able to maintain employment and housing a year after graduating from the two year program.

FCUCC has partnered with Bridge since 1999 and provided mentoring and monthly rent to eight families, impacting the futures of 16 children. One former client has gone on to complete her Bachelors Degree and supports other struggling families. A social worker; another client was able to receive vital care for her critically ill child through your support of this mission. Through weekly mentoring sessions, all of our families have developed life skills such as budgeting and banking, home and time management, goal setting and meal planning, the effective use of available community/Bridge resources and support for parenting skills.

Our current client is a young mother with two year old twins. She has recently returned to college to complete her Associate's degree while working part time in a related field. This path will empower her to find a higher paying position at the end of her time with Bridge and achieve her goals for supporting her family and living independently. Our church family has responded so generously to our appeals to help this young family from purchasing Manna cards to helping with expenses, helping hands on moving day, warm coats for the twins and continued prayers and words of encouragement. We are grateful and could not have achieved this without your ongoing financial and spiritual support.

Confirmation and YOUTH NEWS

Lent is just around the corner and our Confirmation classes and High School Discussion Group will reflect most of March and April about what this season is about and what it means to walk with Jesus during this time.

Our high schoolers spent their winter retreat in Kewaskum, Wisconsin where Peace UCC hosted and doted over our terrific group of youth! Our Saturday evening "under the lights" did not end as we had hoped however I witnessed true friendship and kindness right before my eyes. One of our youth injured herself during snowboarding when she hit a railing going off a ramp and sustained a fractured rib, a horrible burn and bruising down the left side of her back. She is recovering well but never once did she complain, always keeping a positive attitude and an amazing spirit! Lauren, we continue to keep you in our prayers and love you very much!
