Protect yourself and your clients with the most appropriate insurance

As a fitness, health and wellness professional, you have a rewarding job seeing the results of your clients as they improve their mobility, work towards their goals and boost their energy levels. That said, all physical activity carries risk and both the credit and blame for the outcome falls at your feet. If a client sustains an injury from your session together, you could be looking at a lawsuit. Make sure you're covered from the risk of running your business.

WORKING WITH FHMatch

At FHMatch, we understand the importance of enabling professionals to spend more time providing excellent service – leave the marketing and business management to us. We care about empowering professionals to engage, manage and grow their client base.

FHMatch is focused on matching professionals with consumers looking for their services. With one central place to connect with consumers, professionals can chat, schedule, book, rate, invoice and collect payment, optimize their brand and protect – making insurance affordable.

There has never been a better time to evolve the old school way of connecting.
