

The history of Kaizen Institute began in the mid 80's. We have a long history of serving organizations around the world in consulting and training, specifically in the field of KAIZEN™, Change Management & Continuous Improvement strategies.

The KAIZEN™ methodology was gradually developed over many decades. It is a mix of Western Quality principles and Japanese Employee Centric Strategies. It was initially introduced to the world in the 1980's through the best-selling book "KAIZEN™" by Masaaki Imai.

Known as the "father of Continuous Improvement", Masaaki Imai was a pioneer in spreading KAIZEN™ globally. Masaaki Imai founded Kaizen Institute in 1985. His Mission was to help companies around the world implement KAIZEN™ methodologies. Over the last three decades, Imai has authored books and articles, traveled the world and delivered hundreds of lectures on KAIZEN™. Imai understands the steps required to create the conditions in an organization for a Kaizen Culture to develop. Leaders should focus on people development and empowerment whilst allowing them to improve process continuously. The results delivered by organizations that practice KAIZEN™ are astounding! Toyota rose from an obscure Japanese manufacturer to the number one car maker in the world by practicing Kaizen.

Today we work with leaders to create processes that highlight problems. All Employees are trained to complete a "Root Cause Analysis" to ensure problems do not reoccur. Leaders coach employees as they work together in teams fixing departmental problems.
