Part-Time WECA Instructor - Nights and/or Saturdays

Are you on top of your game as an electrician? Do you have what it takes to be a WECA instructor?

WECA is currently hiring part-time instructors for night and weekend classes.

Are you an experienced and knowledgeable electrical professional, with at least one of the following qualifications?

- Certified Residential or General Electrician with at least five years in the trade?

- Current C10 Contractors license with at least 5 years in the trade?

- Electrical engineering degree with some electrical trade experience?

- Vocational teaching degree with previous experience teaching electrical code and theory
(will require further evaluation on WECA's part of your knowledge and qualifications)?

- Retired electrician with 10 years of experience (will require further evaluation on WECA's part of your knowledge and qualifications)?

- Maintenance electrician with 10 years of experience (will require further evaluation on WECA's part of your knowledge and qualifications)?

- Electrician working for a non-C10 contractor with 7 years of experience (will require further evaluation on WECA's part of your knowledge and qualifications)?

- Are you an excellent communicator?

- Do you have a passion for teaching, explaining, and sharing your knowledge with others?

- Do you have at least 5 years in the electrical trade?

- Do you know how to use a computer?

- Would you like the opportunity to teach from your own home computer*, if you have the skills, equipment and an internet connection that meets WECA's requirements?

- Would you like to be paid a starting rate of $35 per hour, with regular evaluation for performance-based raises?

If you answered yes to the questions above, email your resume and a letter of interest to hr@goweca.com.
