

A COASTAL SENIOR COLLEGE SPONSORED EVENT

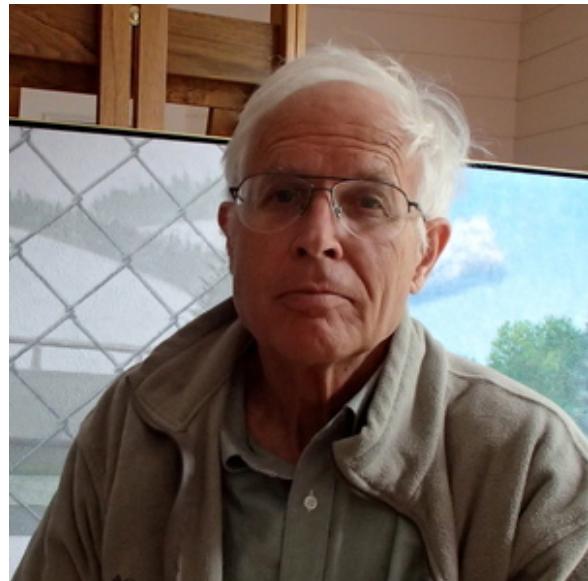

NORTH KOREA: CHALLENGES AND PROSPECTS

The New York Times reporter Nick Kristof recently returned from North Korea, asserting that war between the U.S. and North Korea is much closer than we may be willing to imagine. The streets and the people of Pyongyang are full of anti-American propaganda. Is war inevitable? What are the motivations of Kim Jung Un's nuclear program? What are the best strategies for war prevention?

Winslow Myers and Louis Sell, co-speakers

TUESDAY JANUARY 16
1:30
PORTER ROOM, SKIDOMPHA PUBLIC LIBRARY

Free and open to the public

Louis Sell is a retired foreign service officer. His second book, From Washington to Moscow: US-Soviet Relations and the Collapse of the USSR, was published by Duke University Press in August, 2016. Sell worked for six years at the US Embassy in Moscow, among many foreign postings over a long career. Winslow Myers volunteered for 25 years for the international organization Beyond War, and serves on the Advisory Board of the War Prevention Initiative. Both Myers and Sell will be teaching courses for the Coastal Senior College.