

SAGEVIEW CONSULTING PARTNERS WITH NETWORK OF JEWISH HUMAN SERVICES AGENCIES (NJHSA) TO PROVIDE EXECUTIVE SEARCH AND HR RESOURCES TO ITS MEMBERS

NEW YORK, NY — Sageview Consulting, Inc., a national leader in executive search and HR consulting services for Jewish non-profit organizations, has established a partnership with Network of Jewish Human Services Agencies (NJHSA) to be a resource to its network of 140 members.

Through this partnership, Sageview will provide executive search and HR solutions to NJHSA members while the organization provides marketing exposure, speaking opportunities and referrals to Sageview when agencies have positions to fill or a need for outsourced HR solutions.

Carin Maher, Sageview’s Vice President, Talent Acquisition with more than 11 years of experience meeting the placement needs of SES clients, is the lead contact for all searches. She is joined by other senior members of the Sageview team, including President and CEO Aimee Kaye, Managing Partner Marilyn Hausner and Senior Search Consultant Amy Hoffman.

“We have developed a detailed process for locating and recruiting top notch candidates for the Jewish non-profit world,” said Maher about SES’s capabilities. “We understand the needs of Jewish non-profits and the qualities needed by candidates to be successful.”

In addition to executive search services, Sageview provides a wide range HR outsourcing solutions, including audits and reviews, policy development and documentation, performance management and executive coaching, creating job descriptions, and guidance in complying with federal and state employment regulations.

Sageview has nationwide capabilities with offices in New York, South Florida, and Colorado.
