New NFFE Member Benefit for Workers' Compensation Representation

August 9, 2017

Washington, D.C. – The National Federation of Federal Employees (NFFE) is pleased to announce a new agreement with attorney Alan J. Shapiro to provide NFFE members with highly qualified legal representation for federal workers' compensation claims and advice. Mr. Shapiro is a nationwide practitioner of federal workers' compensation law with more than 50 years of experience representing federal employees. Mr. Shapiro and his sons, Geoffrey and Daniel created the law firm Shapiro, Shapiro and Shapiro which was originally founded many decades ago by Mr. Shapiro's father, also a federal workers' compensation attorney.

In 2016, Mr. Shapiro and his firm was listed as one of the Nation's Best Law Firms by U.S. News and World Report, and has been listed since 1995 as Best Lawyers for Workers' Compensation Law. In addition, he was selected by his peers for inclusion in the Best Lawyers in America ® in 2013, and he is a member of the Worker's Injury Law and Advocacy Group. Mr. Shapiro is a Fellow of the College of Workers' Compensation Lawyers.

Under the agreement, once NFFE membership is confirmed, members receive:

- Free initial consultation
- 25% discount on legal services
- No retainer for legal fees
- No legal fees collected until a recovery is made
- A cap of 20% of the award/compensation recovered

To contact Mr. Shapiro, call him at (216) 991-6890 or visit his website at www.injuredfederalworker.com

Established in 1917, the National Federation of Federal Employees is the oldest union representing civil service federal employees. NFFE represents 110,000 federal employees in 35 departments and agencies government-wide, including the majority of federal wildland firefighters. NFFE is affiliated with the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, AFL-CIO. For more information, go to www.nffe.org.
