About the Program

All Access is a free digital arts summer camp hosted by the Hirshhorn Museum and the National Portrait Gallery. The program provides skill-building opportunities in digital arts and communication, creative expression, and social inclusion for a broad spectrum of teen learners between the ages of 14 and 22. Participating youth will explore art museums, create digital and physical artworks, engage in social interactions, develop digital literacy skills, and forge friendships with other teens with similar interests.

Theme: IDENTITY

This year's camp invites teens to explore their identities through portraiture. Teens will use the Hirshhorn Museum and the National Portrait Gallery to learn about portraiture and how personal identity is represented through art and ideas. At the ARTLAB, teens will create a portfolio of self-portraits using a variety of mediums – traditional art-making, digital photography, music, collage, and movement, and other mediums based on the teen's interest. At the end of the camp, teens will showcase their work for family and friends.

Dates

Camp takes place for two weeks this summer, Monday-Thursday: July 23 – 26 and July 30 – August 2 (no camp on Fridays); daily from 10:00am—2:00pm. The family showcase is the morning of Saturday, August 4th.

Location

On most days, camp will be at the Hirshhorn's ARTLAB classroom—located in the Hirshhorn's Sculpture Garden. On two to three occasions, campers will spend the day at the National Portrait Gallery. A schedule with locations and addresses, as well as transportation details, will be provided before the start of camp.
