

In recent newsletters, we have covered databases and services offered through the library. We have discussed social media, staff burnout, and travel as they relate to the business environment.

Well, school is back in session, and it would be most timely to discuss a book! That's right, a physical book...with pages and insight and everything!

Thinking Fast and Slow, was written by Daniel Kahneman, who is a Nobel Prize winner in the field of economics. The book itself has garnered numerous awards, as well as achieved a certain immeasurable status as a "must read," for anyone interested in optimizing success in their lives. By the way, hopefully we are all curious about that subject matter!

"A tour de force. . . Kahneman's book is a must read for anyone interested in either human behavior or investing. He clearly shows that while we like to think of ourselves as rational in our decision making, the truth is we are subject to many biases. At least being aware of them will give you a better chance of avoiding them, or at least making fewer of them." —Larry Swedroe, CBS News

This great read is available at the library in all formats; as a book, an e-book, and an audio book. Simply click on the picture above to be directed to our catalog! We offer many other like-minded books, as well.

As always, for any questions regarding the many diverse services we offer, contact the Half Hollow Hills Community Library.

