Kenyatta A.C. Hinkle Appointed Assistant Professor of Painting

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, BERKELEY

Kenyatta A.C. Hinkle, Assistant Professor of Painting, UC Berkeley Department of Art Practice

Image Credit: Jake Michaels for The New York Times

The UC Berkeley Department of Art Practice is excited to announce that internationally recognized artist Kenyatta A.C. Hinkle will join its faculty as Assistant Professor of Painting in Fall 2018. Hinkle is an interdisciplinary artist whose practice includes drawing and painting, immersive installations, sound art, performance, activism, and writing.
Recently on view at The San Francisco Arts Commission and the California African American Museum, Hinkle’s ongoing series of work The Evanesced (2016-) is an expansive series of loosely rendered figurative drawings and paintings – semi-abstract “unportraits” that call attention to the erasure of the thousands of black women who disappear every year due to colonialism, human trafficking, homicides, and other forms of erasure. The series also has a suite of performances. Hinkle asks, “How can we retrieve people? How can we retrieve ourselves and make ourselves instruments of change? … I’m not interested in defining what my art is. I’m interested in what it has the power to do.”
The Kentifrica Project (2012-) is an ongoing interactive installation in which Hinkle researches and creates collaborative artwork about her identity as a descendant of Kentifrica, a “contested” combination of the geographies of her ancestral lands of Kentucky and parts of West Africa. A 2018 Wanlass Artist In Residency at Occidental College saw Hinkle “re-creating artifacts and sharing narratives and customs from her research archives … reconstructing a Kentifrican identity that invites a critical engagement with the intersections of collective vs. personal histories, diaspora, migration, immigration, cross-cultural exchange, and issues of geography and authority in relationship to knowledge production.”

Kenyatta A.C. Hinkle was born in Louisville, Kentucky in 1987. She received her BFA in Painting at Maryland Institute College of Art in 2009, and her MFA in Art & Critical Studies/Creative Writing at California Institute of the Arts in 2012. She was awarded a 2015 Fulbright Fellowship to conduct research at the University of Lagos, Nigeria.

Hinkle is the recipient of numerous awards including The Cultural Center for Innovation’s Investing in Artists Grant, Social Practice in Art (SPart-LA), Jacob K Javits Fellowship for Graduate Study, The Fulbright Fellowship, and The Rema Hort Mann Foundation Emerging Artists Award. Her writing has appeared in Not That But This, Obsidian Journal, and Among Margins: Critical and Lyrical Writing on Aesthetics.

Hinkle will be showing The Evanesced: Embodied Disappearance [Searching for Califia] in the Mexicali Biennial 2018 at Los Angeles Contemporary Exhibitions beginning on Saturday, June 9th. She is featured in the documentary Artist and Mother (Artbound S9 E7), airing Tuesday, June 12th on KCET, and screening that same day at the California African American Museum, followed by a conversation with the artists and art writer Jori Finkel. Kentifications: Convergent Truth(s) and Realities, a catalogue to accompany Hinkle’s Wanlass Artist in Residency at Occidental College, will be published by Sming Sming Books. Hinkle’s first book, SIR (Litmus Press, forthcoming, 2018) reflects on naming as a tool for undefining the defined.

The UC Berkeley Department of Art Practice provides rigorous practical, conceptual, and critical training within the context of a world-renowned public research university. Distinguished faculty have included Joan Brown, Peter Voulkos, Jim Melchert, Katherine Sherwood, Hans Hoffmann, Chiura Obata, and Richard Shaw. Notable alumni include Sarah Cain, Theresa Hak Kyung Cha, Enrique Chagoya, Ian Cheng, Jay DeFeo, Mark Grotjahn, Alicia McCarthy, Shana Moulton, Shirin Neshat, Sonya Rapoport, Ehren Tool, and Chris Vargas. The department continues its commitment to educating students for the contemporary world by addressing ongoing global, sociopolitical and cultural shifts, as well as incorporating new technologies as tools for innovative art practices.

CONTACT:
Erik Nelson, Art Practice Department Manager
erik_nelson@berkeley.edu
347 Kroeber Hall, University of California
Berkeley, CA 94720-3750
(510) 642-2582
art.berkeley.edu