

Matt Tully is Vice President of Government and Industry Relations for Essent (NYSE: ESNT) which serves the housing finance industry by offering mortgage insurance, reinsurance and risk management products to mortgage lenders and investors to support homeownership.

At Essent, Matt serves as the company's representation in Washington and handles day-to-day interactions with Members of Congress and their staff, the Administration, and other mortgage insurers and housing industry stakeholders including the Mortgage Bankers Association, the National Association of Realtors, the National Association of Homebuilders, the American Bankers Association, and the Securities Industry and Financial Markets Association.