

Stanford University Department of Public Safety Bike Abatement Program

The Bike Abatement Program is operated by the Department of Public Safety for the purpose of tagging, removing, and storing of bicycles that are abandoned. Signs of abandonment are flat tires, missing parts, and/or an accumulation of dirt or cobwebs. To submit a request for bike abatement (removal), please submit a request through the following link - BIKE ABATEMENT FORM

Once the request has been submitted, we will post a notice (tag) on the bicycles. We must then wait 14 days before DPS can remove them. We cannot be held responsible for impounding bikes without following the 14 day notice under the Stanford University Traffic & Parking Code Section 6.9.1 (Unauthorized Bike Storage Prohibited). The bikes are then removed and stored at our secure bike compound at the police station, located at 711 Serra Street. DPS always does our best to process a request in a timely matter.

Please note it is not guaranteed bikes will be impounded on the 14th day, due to limited bike storage in our bike lot. As a result, it may be a few weeks before we can arrange a pick up date.

If there is a construction project which needs immediate bike or bike rack removal or relocation, please submit the request with the start and end date and time of the project. Once the request is processed, we will post signage at the bike rack no less than 14 days before the start of the project. For your part, please inform all students, staff, and faculty of bike or bike rack removals or relocations to prevent the impoundment of their bikes.
