About Festival Registration Fees

Split This Rock is committed to making its biennial festival accessible to all regardless of financial ability. We keep fees low, offer generous scholarships, and provide opportunities to attend the festival for free through volunteering. With income from registration fees covering only about 1/3 of past festival costs, it has become necessary to reimagine our rate structure. For the 2018 festival, we are offering a range of fees, on a sliding scale, to better sustain the event and, ultimately, Split This Rock itself. We estimate the true cost of the festival to be $300 per person and we ask everyone who can to pay at that level. For those with a greater capacity, please consider giving an additional amount in order to subsidize those who aren't able to afford that cost. Thank you!

Alternately, please consider donating to Split This Rock at our website. All donations are tax deductible. Whether you're able to give or not, we thank you mightily for the ways you hold up the work of Split This Rock! Donations can be given at Split This Rock's website.

Scholarships and Group Rates

A limited number of scholarships and group rates are available. Volunteers who serve for 5 or more hours receive free registration. For details, visit our website or email poetryfest@splitthisrock.org.
