

At a time when people are suffering everywhere and our Earth is facing ecological collapse, join these panelists for an evening discussion on how the intersectional program Restoration Not Incarceration™ can be offered for replication through innovative planning and public policy to other municipalities across the country.

You are invited to an evening panel discussion at Texas Southern University

Restoration Not Incarceration™: Planning for Restorative Justice and Our Earth

In commemoration of National Planning Month, Texas Southern University's Department of Urban Planning and Environmental Policy presents a Policy Discussion for Program Replication

Thursday, Oct. 11, 2018

6:30-8:00 PM

Barbara Jordan-Mickey Leland School of Public Affairs, PAB 108

3100 Cleburne Street

Houston, TX 77004

(Southwest Corner of Tierwester and Cleburne)

Attend in person or via livestream here:
<https://livestream.com/accounts/11609379/PLANNING>

Texas Southern University Barbara Jordan -

Mickey Leland School of Public Affairs

<http://bjmlspa.tsu.edu/about-urban-planning-and-environmental-policy/>

Great Plains Restoration Council

www.gprc.org

Pastor Rudy Rasmus

Senior Pastor of St. John's Church in Downtown Houston, author and humanitarian

Dr. Christine Norton

Associate Professor of Social Work and pioneer in outdoor therapy from Texas State University

Catherine Garcia Flowers

Executive Director of Bread of Life, Inc., and an expert in criminal justice reform

Jarid Manos

American writer, activist, and founder of Restoration Not Incarceration™ and Great Plains Restoration Council

Macc Collins

Successful RNI™ program participant and owner of Texas Tornado Grill Food Truck business

Moderated By:

Keiji Asakura

Founder of Asakura Robinson

Carlecia Wright

Director of Office of Business Opportunity, City of Houston