Item 14: The following disclosure of a Promissory Note issued to Scott Householder by LPL Financial. This note represents a five year forgivable loan and one-fifth of the note will be forgiven on the yearly anniversary of the note. This note was issued to Scott Householder of HGERS for the loss of assets to another LPL Hybrid registered investment adviser. It was issued to bridge the gap of lost revenue to HGERS which those assets created. This conflict interest is created by the fact that Scott Householder must remain registered with LPL for the forgiveness to take place. To mitigate that conflict of interest we provide this disclosure.

Service 1: Portfolio Management Services

Householder Group offers two management options.

- A bundled or non-wrap program. This option involves the client paying a fee to Householder Group and paying ticket or transaction charges on each transaction executed in the account. The exception is that there may be a select listing of securities (typically reserved to mutual funds) for which no transaction fees will be assessed. However, the security may be subject to a holding period to avoid early liquidation fees. For securities with holding periods, clients are not prevented from liquidating during the holding periods, however, there is a fee associated with liquidations during the holding period.
- A bundled or wrap program. This option involves the client paying a single fee which will include asset management services and transactional fees. No separate transaction fees will be assessed. It is important clients read Householder Group’s Appendix 1 (Wrap Program Brochure). Typically, a wrap program will be more expensive for those managed accounts where there is less trading. Conversely, a wrap program is more cost effective for clients who engage in frequent transactions.

With respect to the recommendations of third-party managers, Householder Group Advisors will not offer advice on any specific securities or other investments, but will recommend to you a third-party investment manager, who will provide advice to you in accordance with the relevant program provided by the third-party manager. Your Householder Group Advisor will assist you in selecting third-party investment managers whose investment programs and strategies have been reviewed by Householder Group and determined appropriate for Householder Group's clients based on their individual circumstances and investment goals.

Householder Group's recommendations for third-party managers and programs will be based on research reports and analysis of performance provided by third-party managers and publicly available research and reports regarding investment strategies and programs generally offered by a variety of third-party investment managers. Advisors may utilize computer software programs provided by such third-party managers in providing this service to you.

Service 3: Financial Planning and Consulting Services

Such advice typically involves providing you a variety of services, principally advisory in nature, regarding the management of your financial resources based upon an analysis of your individual needs. Householder Group may gather required information through in-depth personal interviews between you and your Advisor. Once such information has been studied and analyzed, a written financial plan designed to achieve your expressed financial goals and objectives will be produced and presented to you.

Financial plans are based on your financial situation at the time the plan is presented and on financial information you disclose to Householder Group. You are advised that certain assumptions may be made with respect to interest and inflation rates and use of past trends and performance of the market and economy. Past performance is in no way an indication of future performance. Householder Group and its Advisors cannot offer any guarantees or promises that your financial goals and objectives will be met. As your financial situation, goals, objectives, or needs change, you must notify your Advisor promptly.

Some clients may only require advice on a single aspect of the management of their financial resources. For these clients, Householder Group offers financial plans in a modular and/or general consulting that address only those specific areas of interest or concern, which may include but are not limited to tax and budgetary planning, estate, insurance and retirement-planning and/or business planning.

Householder Group Advisors may provide financial planning services to clients on direct participation programs approved for sale by LPL Registered Representatives. However, recommendations as to the advisability of purchasing or selling these investments will not be made in the Advisor's capacity as a Householder Group Advisor.

In these instances, the TPA may pay a portion of the fee charged to the plan to Householder Group for their services. In other instances, Householder Group may be introduced to a plan through a TPA and will provide service directly to the plan.

Householder Group will hold educational seminars for the plan employees and provide information on the plan specifics and allocation choices. Householder Group Advisors will also meet with individual plan participants and offer personalized information based on their individual objectives.

All client accounts are regulated under the Employee Retirement Income Securities Act (“ERISA”). Householder Group Advisors will provide consulting services to the plan fiduciaries as described above. Typically, the named plan fiduciary must make the ultimate decision pertaining to the services of such TPAs. TPA referrals may only be made to such administrators that are approved for use by LPL. The plan fiduciary is free to seek independent advice about the appropriateness of any recommended services for the plan.

Service 5: Seminars and Educational Programs

Householder Group conducts seminars and/or educational programs regarding tax planning, estate planning, retirement planning, insurance planning, investment planning, and other related areas of financial planning on a periodic basis.

Service 6: Estate Planning Services

Householder Group works with clients to provide estate planning services and works with the client and the client’s attorney or other professionals to establish an estate plan strategy that may include the creation of one or more of the following legal documents for the client: wills, trusts, living wills or health directives and/or power of attorneys.

There will be no independent investigation of your background information, nor update of such information, without your express written consent. It remains your responsibility to advise your Advisor and your attorney or other professional of any changes in circumstances, e.g. needs, objectives, goals and any other changes that would impact your estate plan and/or estate distribution.

Service 7: Retirement Plan Services

Householder Group offers consulting and advisory services for employer-sponsored retirement plans that are designed to assist plan sponsors of employee benefit plans (“Sponsor(s)”). Householder Group may also assist Sponsors with enrollment and/or providing investment education to plan participants and beneficiaries. Householder Group provides these retirement plan services (“Retirement Plan Services”) through its independent contractor advisory representatives ("Advisors), and may charge a fee for the Retirement Plan Services, as described in this Form ADV Part 2 ("ADV") and the Retirement Plan Consulting Agreement ("Agreement").

Retirement Plan Services are either ERISA Fiduciary Services or ERISA Non-fiduciary Services. ERISA Non-fiduciary Services may be performed only so that they would not be considered fiduciary services under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended (ERISA). When delivering ERISA Fiduciary Services, Householder Group will perform those services to the plan as a fiduciary under ERISA Section 3(21)(A)(ii) and will act in good faith and with the degree of diligence, care and skill that a prudent person rendering similar services would exercise under similar circumstances. When providing any ERISA Fiduciary Services, Householder Group will solely be making recommendations to the Sponsor and the Sponsor retains full discretionary authority or control over assets of the plan.

Sponsor may engage the Householder Group to perform the Retirement Plan Services by completing a Retirement Plan Consulting Agreement. The Agreement describes the terms of the arrangement between Householder Group and the Sponsor, including a description of the Retirement Services and the fees to be charged by Householder Group. By signing the Agreement, the Sponsor represents that Sponsor has received sufficient information and determined that the Retirement Plan Services selected are: (i) necessary for the operation of the plan and (ii) reasonable and appropriate based upon the compensation to be paid for the Services. Sponsor must sign and submit the Agreement to Householder Group before Householder Group performs any Retirement Plan Services.

Potential Additional Retirement Services Provided Outside of the Agreement:

In providing Retirement Plan Services, Householder Group and its Advisors may establish a client relationship with one or more plan participants or beneficiaries. Such client relationships develop in various ways, including, without limitation:

- 1) as a result of a decision by the participant or beneficiary to purchase services from Householder Group not involving the use of plan assets;
- 2) as part of an individual or family financial plan for which any specific recommendations concerning the allocation of assets or investment recommendations relate exclusively to assets held outside of the plan; or
- 3) through an Individual Retirement Account rollover ("IRA Rollover").

If Householder Group is providing Retirement Plan Services to a plan, Advisors may, when requested by a plan participant or beneficiary, arrange to provide services to that participant or beneficiary through a separate agreement that excludes any investment advice on plan assets (but may consider the participant's or beneficiary's interest in the plan in providing that service). If a plan participant or beneficiary desires to affect an IRA Rollover, Advisor will obtain a written acknowledgement from the plan participant. Any decision to affect the rollover or about what to do with the rollover assets remain that of the participant or beneficiary alone.

IRA Rollover Considerations

As part of our consulting and advisory services, we may provide you recommendations and advice concerning your employer retirement plan or other qualified retirement account. Our recommendations may include you consider withdrawing the assets from your employer's retirement plan or other qualified retirement account and roll the assets over to an individual retirement account ("IRA"). Further, we offer our management services be applied to those funds and securities rolled into an IRA or other account for which we will receive compensation. If you elect to roll the assets to an IRA that is subject to our management, we will charge you an asset based fee as described above under Item 5. This practice presents a conflict of interest because persons providing investment advice on your behalf have an incentive to recommend a rollover to you for the purpose of generating fee based compensation rather than solely based on your needs. You are under no obligation, contractually or otherwise, to complete the rollover. Furthermore, if you do complete the rollover, you are under no obligation to have the assets in an IRA managed by us.

It is important for you to understand many employers permit former employees to keep their retirement assets in their company plan. Also, current employees can sometimes move assets out of their company plan before they retire or change jobs. In determining whether to complete the rollover to an IRA, and to the extent the following options are available, you should consider the costs and benefits of each.

An employee will typically have four options:

1. Leave the funds in your employer's (former employer's) plan.
2. Move the funds to a new employer's retirement plan.
3. Cash out and taking a taxable distribution from the plan.
4. Roll the funds into an IRA rollover account.

Each of these options has advantages and disadvantages and before making a change we encourage you to speak with your CPA and/or tax attorney.

If you are considering rolling over your retirement funds to an IRA for us to manage it is important you understand the following:

1. Determine whether the investment options in your employer's retirement plan address your needs or whether you might want to consider other types of investments.
 - a. Employer retirement plans generally have a more limited investment menu than IRAs.
 - b. Employer retirement plans may have unique investment options not available to the public such as employer securities, or previously closed funds.
2. Your current plan may have lower fees than our fees.
 - a. If you are interested in investing only in mutual funds, you should understand the cost structure of the share classes available in your employer's retirement plan and how the costs of those share classes compare with those available in an IRA.
 - b. You should understand the various products and services you might take advantage of at an IRA provider and the potential costs of those products and services.
 - c. It is likely you will not be charged a management fee and will not receive ongoing asset management services unless you elect to have such services. In the event your plan offers asset management or model management, there may be a fee associated with the services that is more or less than our asset management fee.
3. Our strategy may have higher risk than the option(s) provided to you in your plan.
4. Your current plan may offer financial advice, guidance, and/or model management or portfolio options at no additional cost.
5. If you keep your assets titled in a 401k or retirement account, you could potentially delay your required minimum distribution beyond age 70.5 (70 ½).
6. Your 401k may offer more liability protection than a rollover IRA; each state may vary. Generally, federal law protects assets in qualified plans from creditors. Since 2005, IRA assets have been generally protected from creditors in bankruptcies. However, there can be some exceptions to the general rules so you should consult an attorney if you are concerned about protecting your retirement plan assets from creditors.
7. You may be able to take out a loan on your 401k, but not from an IRA.
8. IRA assets can be accessed any time; however, distributions are subject to ordinary income tax and may also be subject to a 10% early distribution penalty unless they qualify for an exception such as disability, higher education expenses or the purchase of a home.
9. If you own company stock in your plan, you may be able to liquidate those shares at a lower capital gains tax rate.
10. Your plan may allow you to hire us as the manager and keep the assets titled in the plan name.

It is important that you understand the differences between these types of accounts and to decide whether a rollover is best for you. Prior to proceeding, if you have questions contact your investment adviser representative, or call our main number as listed on the cover page of this brochure.

Wrap Program

There is no significant difference between how Householder Group manages wrap fee accounts and non-wrap fee accounts. However, as stated above, if a client determines to engage Householder Group on a wrap fee basis the client will pay a single fee for bundled services (i.e. investment advisory, brokerage, custody). The services included in a wrap fee agreement will depend upon each client's particular need. If the client determines to engage Householder Group on a non-wrap fee basis the client will select individual services on an unbundled basis, paying for each service separately (i.e. investment advisory, brokerage, custody). Please Note: When managing a client's account on a wrap fee basis, Householder Group shall receive as payment for its investment advisory services, the balance of the wrap fee after all other costs incorporated into the wrap fee have been deducted.

Assets Under Management

As of December 31, 2017, we have approximately $327,246,679 of client assets under our discretionary management and approximately $442,745,507 of non-discretionary client assets under management.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

Service 1: Portfolio Management Services

On an annualized basis, Householder Group charges a negotiable fee up to 2.9% of your assets under management, with the exception of the overlay programs described above in Item 4. The overlay portfolio management programs have maximum fees less than 2.9% as outlined below.. Each Investment Advisory Representative sets his/her own fee schedule which you will receive as part of the Client Advisory Services Agreement. Fees are not commensurate with experience or education.

The fee for portfolio management services is due and payable quarterly in advance. Fees are calculated based upon the value of your account at the end of the just completed calendar quarter. Fees are calculated and determined by the platform provider, LPL Financial. Fees may also be based upon the fair market value of the assets in the account and computed monthly or quarterly. Fees will be assessed pro rata in the event your agreement is executed at any time other than the first day of your decided billing period.

Fee calculations may be tiered or linear. A tiered fee schedule is similar to the current income tax system. Each level of assets is charged its own corresponding percentage rate. For example, a tiered fee schedule might charge 2% on the first $250,000, 1.75% on the next $250,000 and 1.5% on the next $250,000, effectively giving the client a blended and lower rate than the initial 2%. With a linear fee calculation, as a client's assets grow and breakpoints are met, fees are decreased. Unlike the tiered fee schedule, once a breakpoint has been met, all of the assets back to dollar one are then charged at the new lower percentage rate.

Overlay Model Portfolio Asset Management Programs

As stated under Item 4, You will be provided with a copy of the LPL Financial Form ADV not later than executing an agreement to participate in one or more of the programs. It is important you read the LPL Financial Form ADV completely for more information and explanation about the programs.

Optimum Market Portfolios (OMP)

Maximum fee of 2.5%. A portion of the total fee paid by the client will be paid to LPL Financial as a program and administrative fee, and cover transaction charges and a portion of the fee will be directed to any strategist selected. The balance of the fee is paid to Householder Group.

Manager Access Network (MAN)

Maximum fee of 2.5%. A portion of the total fee paid by the client will be paid to LPL Financial as a program fee, administrative fee and a portion of the fee will be directed to any portfolio manager selected. The balance of the fee is paid to Householder Group.

Personal Wealth Portfolios (PWP)

Maximum fee of 2.5%. A portion of the total fee paid by the client will be paid to LPL Financial as a program and administrative fee and a portion of the fee will be directed to the separate account manager(s) selected. The balance of the fee is paid to Householder Group.

Model Wealth Portfolios (MWP)

Maximum fee of 2.5%. A portion of the total fee paid by the client will be paid to LPL Financial as a program and administrative fee, overlay portfolio management fee and to cover transaction charges and a portion of the fee will be directed to any strategist selected. The balance of the fee is paid to Householder Group.

You may make additions to your account or withdrawals for your account, provided the account continues to meet any minimum account size requirements. Additional assets deposited into the account (i.e. inflows) after it is opened will be charged a pro-rata fee based upon the number of days remaining in the then current billing period. Additionally, partial withdrawals from the account (i.e. outflows) will result in a prorated portion of the fee being credited to the account. No fee adjustment will be made for account appreciation or depreciation.

At its discretion, Householder Group may allow accounts of members of the same household to be aggregated for purposes of determining the advisory fee or meeting the minimum account size. Householder Group may allow such aggregation, for example, where Householder Group services accounts on behalf of minor children of current clients, individual and joint accounts, and other types of related accounts.

Payment of the advisory fees will be made by the qualified custodian holding your funds and securities provided you supply written authorization permitting the fees to be paid directly from your account. Householder Group will not have access to your funds for payment of fees without your written consent. Further, the qualified custodian is responsible for delivering an account statement, at least quarterly, to you directly, showing all disbursements from your account. You are encouraged to review all account statements for accuracy. Householder Group will receive a duplicate copy of your statement. In limited circumstances, you may receive an invoice directly from Householder Group for the payment of its management fees.

In instances where there is a Joint Advisor Account, the fees will be shared by the Servicing Advisor and the Managing Advisor; in no instance will you pay additional advisory fees for the services of the Managing Advisor.

You may terminate the asset management agreement within five business days of the date of acceptance without penalty. Thereafter, either party may terminate the agreement at any time upon 30-days written notice to the other party. Any pre-paid unearned fees will be refunded to you on a pro rata basis.

Service 2: Analysis, Recommendation & Monitoring of Third Party Managed Programs

A complete description of the programs, services, fees, payment structure and termination features of third party manager programs and services is disclosed in the third party manager's disclosure brochures, investment advisory contracts, and account opening documents.

You should know that the services provided by us through the use of Third-Party Advisory Services are under certain conditions directly offered by them to you. The fees charged by Third-Party Advisory Services who offer their programs directly to you may be more or less than the combined fees charged by the Third Party Advisory Service and us for our participation in the investment programs. However, when using the services of Third-Party Advisory Services directly, you receive our expertise in developing an investment strategy, selecting a Third-Party Advisory Service, monitoring the performance of your account and changing a Third-Party Advisory Service provider when appropriate.

Compensation in connection with Third Party Advisory Services generally consists of five elements: i) management fees paid to Third Party Advisory Services ii) management fees paid to us as outlined in the client agreement that you sign with us iii) transaction costs – if applicable – which may be paid to purchase and sell such securities; iv) custody fees; and v) revenue sharing paid to the broker-dealer. Your account will be held with the Third Party Advisory Service custodian where your fees will be assessed and deducted.

The fee third-party managers may charge is a separate advisory fee, which is in addition to Householder Group's advisory fees. The account size and the nature of the services being provided are the primary determinants of the agreed upon fee to be charged. Fees may be negotiable depending on the extent and level of service to be provided. Typically Householder Group will receive a portion of the advisory fee charged to you by the third party manager. The portion of the advisory fee paid to Householder (i.e. the solicitor fee) will not exceed 1.5%. Calculation of the fees and details of any fee refunds and termination provisions is contained in the third party manager's disclosure brochure and advisory agreement entered into between you and the third party manager.

In instances where there is a Joint Advisor Account, the fees will be shared by the Servicing Advisor and the Managing Advisor; in no instance will you pay additional advisory fees for the services of the Managing Advisor.

Service 3: Financial Planning and Consulting Services

Householder Group charges a fixed fee ranging from $150 to $15,000 for broad-based financial planning services, which is negotiable depending on the scope and complexity of the plan, your situation and your objectives. Householder Group requires that the fee is either paid upon signing of a Client Advisory Services Agreement or an Engagement Letter, or one half of the fee be paid upon signing a Client Advisory Services Agreement or an Engagement Letter, with the remaining portion due upon completion of the financial plan. Under no circumstance will Householder Group require prepayment of the fee more than six months in advance in excess of $1,200.

The fee for modular and/or consultative financial planning services is based on a negotiable rate ranging from $100 - $1000 per hour, depending on the complexity of your situation. In some circumstances, in lieu of hourly billing, Householder Group may quote a fixed fee based on an estimation of the work involved and time required. You and the Advisor should both be very clear as to the extent of the work to be performed, the fee quoted, as well as the time in which the work is to be completed. All fixed fees and/or hourly work is agreed upon between you and Householder Group Advisor and documented in either Householder Group's Client Advisory Services Agreement or Engagement Letter which is executed between the two parties. A copy should be delivered to you immediately upon execution (as well as a copy of this Form ADV Brochure). Fees for modular planning will be paid upon signing of a Client Advisory Services Agreement or an Engagement Letter, or a portion of the fee is to be paid upon signing a Client Advisory Services Agreement or an Engagement Letter, with the remaining portion due upon completion of the modular plan. Fees for consulting services are payable after the completion of the consult.

You may terminate your agreement with Householder Group at any time on thirty (30) days and a full refund of any fees paid will be made if the engagement is terminated within five (5) business days. If you decide to terminate your agreement after five (5) business days, then any fees paid but not earned will be refunded.

Service 4: Pension Consulting Services

The fee for pension consulting services is based on a negotiable rate ranging from $100 - $1000 per hour, depending on the scope and complexity of the qualified plan and the requested services, and which fee will be payable quarterly in advance. An estimate of the total cost will be determined at the start of the advisory relationship. Under no circumstance will Householder Group require prepayment of a fee more than six months in advance and in excess of $1,200.

All client accounts are regulated under ERISA. Householder Group will provide consulting services to the plan fiduciaries as described above. Typically, the named plan fiduciary must make the ultimate decision as to retaining the services of such investment advisors as Householder Group recommends. The plan fiduciary is free to seek independent advice about the appropriateness of any recommended services for the plan.

If the disclosure brochure, Form ADV Part 2A, is not delivered to the client within 48 hours prior to the client entering into the pension consulting agreement, the client may terminate the agreement within five (5) business days of the date of acceptance without penalty. If the client received the disclosure documents 48 hours in advance or if the five-day grace period has expired, either party may terminate the agreement upon written notice to the other party. The pension consulting fees will be pro-rated for the quarter in which the cancellation notice was given and unearned fees will be refunded to the client.

Service 5: Seminars and Educational Programs

Seminars are generally complimentary for Householder Group's existing clients; however, in some circumstances, Householder Group may charge non-client attendees a fee for these seminars. In such cases the fees are up to $500 per person, depending upon the materials used and the type of seminar conducted, and is generally payable at the time of the seminar.

Educational programs are generally more interactive and may be conducted over several days. Program fees are dependent on the length and complexity of the program. Costs for participants may range up to $1,000. The program fee may or may not include materials.

Service 6: Estate Planning Services

The negotiable fees for the estate planning services will generally range from $700 to $5,000 depending on the complexity of your situation, number of meetings, travel time, and time involved in implementation. Fees are negotiable. Generally, fees will be due upon signing of a Client Advisory Services Agreement or an Engagement Letter, or one-half of the fee shall be paid upon signing a Client Advisory Services Agreement or an Engagement Letter, with the remaining portion due upon completion of services. However, Householder Group will work with you to determine a suitable fee and payment schedule.

You may terminate your agreement with Householder Group within five (5) business days after execution of the agreement with Householder Group without penalty. Any deposit you paid to Householder Group will be refunded to you in full. After the five-day period, you may terminate at any time prior to completion of the services upon written notice to Householder Group. Any refund you are due will be calculated based on the time expended by Householder Group multiplied by the hourly rate of $250 per hour and subtracted from the deposit paid to Householder Group.

Service 7: Retirement Plan Services

Retirement Plan Services: Fees for the Retirement Services ("Fees") are negotiable, and Sponsor may be charged a fee based on a percentage of plan assets, an hourly rate or a flat dollar amount. Sponsor may specify whether to pay the Fees directly or may authorize the plan's record keeper or custodian to pay Householder Group from plan assets. The selection of certain fee calculation combination options as outlined below may cost you more or less than the selection of other calculation combination options.

Fee based on a percentage of plan assets are calculated in accordance with the Consulting Agreement on a monthly or quarterly basis. Unless otherwise agreed to by contract, the fee is calculated based upon either:

- a. the average daily value of your account computed and payable in arrears during the preceding month or quarter; or,
- b. the fair market value of the assets in the account payable in arrears as of the end of the month or quarter Fee

Schedules may be either tiered or linear.

- a) Tiered fee schedule – similar to our current income tax system. Each level of assets is charged its own corresponding percentage rate. For example, a tiered fee schedule might charge 2.5% on the first $250,000, 1.75% on the next $250,000 and 1.5% on the next $250,000, effectively giving you a blended and lower rate than the maximum 2.9%.
- b) Linear fee schedule – as your assets grow and breakpoints are met, fees are decreased. Unlike the tiered schedule, once a breakpoint has been met all of the assets back to dollar one are then charged at the new lower percentage rate.

There is no maximum rate for flat dollar fees and they are payable monthly, quarterly, or annually as indicated in the Consulting Agreement.

Hourly fees are billed at a maximum rate of two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00) per hour. Fees are estimated by your Advisor based upon a preliminary assessment of the complexity of your financial circumstances, the level of skill required to perform the services, and, accordingly, the time likely to be required to perform the services. The fees will be specific in the Consulting Agreement.

If the Consulting Agreement is terminated prior to the end of the billing period, Householder Group will be entitled to a fee, prorated for the number of days in the billing period prior to the effective date of termination, and for asset-based fees, based on the market value of the plan assets at the close of business on the effective date of termination.

Sponsors receiving Retirement Services may pay more or less than a client might otherwise pay if purchasing the Retirement Services separately or through another service provider. There are several factors that determine whether the costs would be more or less, including, but not limited to, the size of the plan, the specific investments made by the plan, the number of locations of participants, the Retirement Services offered by another service provider, and the actual costs of Retirement Services purchased elsewhere. In light of the specific Retirement Services offered by Householder Group, the Fees charged may be more or less than those of other similar service provider.

All fees paid to Householder Group for Retirement Services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds and exchange traded funds to their shareholders. These fees and expenses are described in each investment's prospectus. These fees will generally include a management fee, other expenses, and possible distribution fees. If the investment also imposes sales charges, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. The Retirement Services provided by Householder Group are designed to, among other things, assist the client in determining which Manager(s) are most appropriate to each client's financial condition and objectives and to provide other administrative assistance as selected by the client. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds, the Manager, the plan's other service providers and the fees charged by Householder Group to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client and to evaluate the Retirement Services being provided.

Your Advisor is an advisory registered representative of Householder Group Estate & Retirement Specialists, LLC of Scottsdale, AZ, an SEC registered investment advisory firm. Additionally, your Advisor is capable of executing securities transactions through LPL Financial Corporation ("LPL"). As a result, the Advisor will from time to time receive commissions and other payments, including 12b-1 fees, generally received with respect to the sale of investment products.

General Information on Services and Fees

Householder Group charges its Advisory Representatives an administrative fee of 9 basis points (0.09%) based on the value of assets the Advisory Representative manages. Householder Group charges the administrative fee directly to the Advisory Representative. The administrative fee is to assist Householder Group to cover various costs it incurs including administrative, compliance, regulatory fees, operational support, and back office services. The Advisory Representative may choose to pass this administrative fee onto you, the client, and increase the fees you are charged. Advisory Representatives are independent contractors of Householder Group and each Advisory Representative determines the fee they will charge to their clients based on the fee schedules outlined above. Therefore, fees charged by another Householder Group Advisory Representative may be more or less than what you are being charged.

Householder Group's fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees and other related costs and expenses which you will incur. You may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third party investment advisors and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, ticket charges, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Your Advisor may reduce your advisory fees to offset the commissions or mark-ups you may incur. In addition, your Advisor may choose to pay broker-dealer ticket charges; however, you are always responsible for additional transaction charges. If the Advisor does not pay ticket charges, this may result in a higher overall cost to you. Please be aware that you are under no obligation to purchase products or services recommended by us or members of our Firm in connection with providing you with any advisory service that we offer. The securities recommended may be purchased through other broker-dealers. However, your advisor will not be able to service accounts held at other broker-dealers.

At the Advisor's discretion, the Advisor may refund fees paid for financial planning services based upon an agreement to manage your portfolio.

You will pay separately for Individual Retirement Account custodial services and may be assessed inactivity fees. All fees paid to Householder Group for investment advisor services are separate from fees and expenses charged to owners of mutual fund shares or variable annuity contracts by the product sponsors. As a result, you may pay two management fees. Variable Annuities often carry higher internal expense ratios than mutual fund investments due to their insurance related features. If you opt for management of a variable annuity, you will be subject to higher annual fees than if only invested in the variable annuity, as fees paid to Householder Group are separate and segregate from the annuity expenses. Furthermore, you will have the same investment options and could possibly invest in a similar fashion without management services on your own. You are not obligated to use your Advisor for any of the products or services referenced in this Brochure. Lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources. A complete explanation of the product-related fees and expenses is contained in the prospectus for the particular investment product.

Mutual funds and ETFs also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to Householder Group's fee, and Householder Group shall not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs. For Joint Advisor Accounts, the fees will be shared by the Servicing Advisor and the Managing Advisor; in no instance will the client pay additional advisory fees for the services of the Managing Advisor.

Householder Advisors in their capacity as a broker-dealer registered representative may, from time-to-time, receive 12b-1 fees or trail commissions from investment companies in connection with the placement of client funds into investment companies. Item 12 further describes the factors that Householder Group considers in selecting or recommending broker-dealers for client transactions and determining the reasonableness of their compensation (e.g., commissions).

These practices present a conflict of interest and could potentially give Householder Group or your Advisor an incentive to recommend investment products based on the compensation received, rather than on your needs. These conflicts, which are disclosed in this Brochure, are addressed through ongoing training, annual compliance meetings, and routine review of transactions by either Householder Group's Chief Compliance Officer or Compliance staff.

In the event that a Householder Group Advisor is to receive commission revenues from you in connection with investments purchased in advisory or managed accounts, such commissions shall be "fully disclosed" by the Advisor, and/or product prospectus and/or through the distribution of the trade confirmation statement. If as a registered representative, an Advisor earns a commission on the sale of a securities product, he or she must wait one (1) year before including that position in the calculation of your advisory fee. Advisory fees may not be reduced to offset these commissions. Illiquid assets (e.g. partnerships, illiquid REITs, savings accounts, CD's) are not included in the calculation of assets under management and advisory fees. In some instances, lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Householder Group does not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

Item 7 – Types of Clients

Householder Group's clients include individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, corporations, and other business entities.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Householder Group Advisors offers advice on all exchange-listed securities and those traded over-the-counter. Advice is also offered on: variable annuities, variable life insurance, mutual funds, U.S. government securities, corporate debt instruments, certificates of deposit, municipal securities, security and index option contracts, and any other products that would be appropriate for the individual client, provided such products are approved for offering by LPL.

In formulating investment advice or managing assets to accomplish stated financial objectives, Householder Group Advisors may use one or more of the following methods of analysis:

- Fundamental – Analyzes individual investments in relation to expectations regarding the market and international and national economic indicators, such as GDP growth rates, inflation, interest rates, exchange rates, productivity, and energy prices.
- Technical – Analyzes past market data trends, primarily price and volume, in an attempt to forecast the direction of securities prices.
- Cyclical – Analyzes past economic and market cycles in an attempt to forecast the direction of securities prices.
- Computer Model – Software programs utilizing statistics and probability, calculus, and econometrics to produce trading signals for the purpose of timing portfolio re-allocations.

Advisors may use one or more of the following investment strategies in managing client assets:

- Buy and Hold (passive management) - A long-term investment strategy based on the view that in the long run financial markets give a good rate of return despite periods of volatility or decline. This viewpoint also holds that short-term market timing, i.e. the concept that one can enter the market on the lows and sell on the highs, does not work so it is better to simply buy and hold.
- Market Timing (active management) - A strategy of making buy or sell decisions of financial assets by attempting to predict future market price movements. The prediction may be based on an outlook of market or economic conditions resulting from technical or fundamental analysis. This is an investment strategy based on the outlook for an aggregate market, rather than for a particular financial asset.
- Momentum Investing (active management) – A strategy of buying securities that have had high returns over a specific historical time period (ex. the twelve months), and selling those that have had poor returns over the same period.
- Strategic Asset Allocation - A strategy that involves the establishment of a long-term target allocation in major asset classes such as stocks, bonds, and cash based on portfolio objective, risk tolerance, and time horizon.
- Tactical Asset Allocation – A strategy that attempts to overweight those asset classes that are expected to outperform on a relative basis and under weigh those expected to underperform. Financial and economic variables (“signals”) are used to predict performance and assign relative short-term asset-class weightings.

The strategies described above may utilize a combination of long term purchases (securities held at least a year), short-term purchases (securities sold within a year), trading (securities sold within 30 days), or options contracts (non-discretionary only and limited to purchases of put options where the account is long the underlying security & writing covered calls). Frequent trading in a client account can affect investment performance, particularly through increased brokerage and other transaction costs and taxes.

Investment strategies and recommendations may be based upon consideration of any of the following:

- Diversification – for the purpose of balancing risk while maintaining the possibility of gain; or,
- Risk Factors – including the risk of capital loss (market risk) and the risk of loss of purchasing power (inflation risk), and the client's understanding of, and financial ability to bear, such risks; or,
- Asset Balance – taking into consideration short and long-term liquidity needs, blending of lesser and greater risk approaches, and combining income, growth, and safety concepts; or,
- Discipline – emphasizing commitment and follow through over a reasonable period of time in order to permit the investment plan or recommendations to achieve the intended/pursued result; or,
- Income Tax Considerations - these should not replace the economic benefits as the principal determinant of investment decisions.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear. Risks associated with the strategies described above include:

- Capital risk: The risk that your investments may lose value.
- Currency risk: If the assets you invest in are held in another currency there is a risk that currency movements alone may affect the value.
- Financial risk: The risk that there may be a disruption in the internal financial affairs of the investment, thereby causing a loss of value.
- Market risk: The risk that the value of a security or portfolio will decrease due to the change in value of the overall market.
- Credit risk: The risk of loss arising from a borrower who does not make payments as promised.
- Interest rate risk: The risk that an interest-bearing asset, such as a bond, will lose value due to variability of interest rates. In general, as rates rise, the price of a fixed rate bond will fall, and vice versa.

To aid in mitigating some of the risk associated with investing in securities, Householder Group prohibits its Advisors from offering advice on securities products that have not been approved by the broker/dealer LPL. Some of these securities products may include futures contracts, private placements and Regulation D offerings. Similarly, Advisors are not permitted to offer advice on products in instances where they are not properly licensed. For example, an Advisor who is only Series 6 licensed cannot advise clients to purchase stocks, bonds, options, REITs.

We generally recommend stocks, bonds, exchange traded funds, and mutual funds to you.

Investing in stocks involves the assumption of risk including:

- Financial Risk: which is the risk that the companies we recommend to you may perform poorly which will affect the price of your investment.
- Market Risk: which is the risk that the Stock Market will decline, decreasing the value of the securities we recommend to you with it.
- Inflation Risk: which is the risk that the rate of price increases in the economy deteriorates the returns associated with the stock.
- Political and Governmental Risk: which is the risk that the value of your investment may change with the introduction of new laws or regulations.

Bonds – Investing in bonds involves the assumption of risk including:

- Interest Rate Risk: which is the risk that the value of the bond investments we recommend to you will fall if interest rates rise.
- Call Risk: which is the risk that your bond investment will be called or purchased back from you when conditions are favorable to the bond issuer and unfavorable to you.
- Default Risk: which is the risk that the bond issuer may be unable to pay you the contractual interest or principal on the bond in a timely manner or at all.

Investing in mutual funds involves the assumption of risk including:

- Manager Risk: which is the risk that an actively managed mutual fund's investment adviser will fail to execute the fund's stated investment strategy.
- Market Risk: which is the risk that the Stock Market will decline, decreasing the value of the securities contained within the mutual funds we recommend to you.
- Industry Risk: which is the risk that a group of stocks in a single industry will decline in price due to adverse developments in that industry, therefore decreasing the value of mutual funds that are significantly invested in that industry.
- Inflation Risk: which is the risk that the rate of price increases in the economy deteriorates the returns associated with the mutual fund.

Exchange traded funds (ETFs) are professionally managed pooled vehicles that invest in stocks, bonds, short-term money market instruments, other mutual funds, other securities or any combination thereof. Investing in ETFs involves risks including:

- ETFs trade on an auctionable market. Therefore, there is more price fluctuation with ETFs than with mutual funds since ETFs trade throughout the day, whereas mutual funds are priced once a day
- ETFs only mirror a market index, such as the S&P 500, they won't outperform the index.
- While ETFs generally provide diversification, risks can be significantly increased for funds concentrated in a particular sector of the market, or that primarily invest in small cap or speculative companies, use leverage (i.e. borrow money) to a significant degree, or concentrate in a particular type of security rather than balancing the fund with different types of securities.

The risks with utilizing third party managed programs include:

- Market and economic risk.
- The risk the third party manager is not managing to the objective or managing based on the stated strategy.
- The risk the securities managed by the third party manager will decline or fluctuate impacting the overall performance of the portfolio.
- The risk that the performance of the portfolio will be diminished by the fees of the third party manager and expenses associated with the securities.

Tax Risk

Income tax costs may result from the sale of individual securities within your account, unless the account is otherwise tax sheltered or tax deferred. Income tax costs directly reduce investment returns. Under the current income tax system, securities held less than one year that are sold at a gain (short term capital gains) are taxed at the client's highest marginal tax rate, and securities held greater than one year that are sold at a gain (long term capital gains) are taxed at a reduced long term capital gains rate. Furthermore, the potential Alternative Minimum Tax (AMT) impact of long and short-term capital gains incurred in the tax year in question should be considered. Client is responsible for all tax liabilities arising from the sale of securities within the account.

Listed above are some of the primary risks associated with the way we recommend investments to you. Please do not hesitate to contact us to discuss these risks and others in more detail. In instances where we recommend that a third party manage your assets, please refer to the third party's ADV and associated disclosure documents for details on their investment strategies, methods of analysis and associated risks. No investment strategy can avoid loss. Investing in securities involves risk of loss that you need to be prepared to bear.

Householder Group does not represent, warrant or imply that the services or methods of analysis used by Householder Group can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate you from losses due to major market corrections or crashes. Past performance is no indication of future performance. No guarantees can be offered that your goals or objectives will be achieved. Further, no promises or assumptions can be made that the advisory services offered by Householder Group will provide a better return than other investment strategies.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisors are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of Householder Group or the integrity of Householder Group's management. Householder Group has no information applicable to this Item.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

The principal business of Householder Group is the provision of advisory services. Householder Group's Chief Executive Officer, Scott Householder, and its Advisors are registered representatives of LPL, a FINRA licensed broker-dealer firm. In addition, a number of Householder Group Advisors carry the required licensing to allow them to act as insurance agents. Accordingly, these individuals are licensed to sell securities and insurance related products for a separate commission based compensation.

Householder Group has a sister company, HG Insurance Services, LLC, that offers insurance products and services. Clients are not obligated to purchase insurance products and services through HG Insurance Services, LLC or any Advisor. However, should a client purchase insurance products or services through HG Insurance Services, LLC or Advisors, commissions will be earned. This is a material conflict of interest. Clients are encouraged to seek quotes and reviews from other insurance professionals prior to purchasing a product.

Since Householder Group Advisors are independent contractors, the advisory representatives may engage in other businesses and/or own other businesses including insurance agents, tax preparation, attorney, and/or insurance company or agency. Therefore, you may be offered services (such as accounting, insurance services, or legal advice) for a fee. You are under no obligation to purchase these services through your advisor. Because of the conflict of interest in having you purchase services through them, this disclosure is provided to you.

From time-to-time, Advisors who are registered representatives may receive 12b-1 fees from investment companies in connection with the placement of client funds into investment companies. Additionally, Householder Group or its Advisors may receive administrative, investment advisory or other fees for providing support services, administrative support and/or client referrals to other investment advisory firms. These practices present a conflict of interest and may give Householder Group or a client's Advisor an incentive to recommend products based on the compensation received, rather than on a client's needs. Since Householder Group has an interest in the compensation this is considered a material conflict of interest. Householder Group selects third party managers based on several criteria including cost, type of management, past history, ability to meet a need and provide a unique service. Since the fee charged to you is based on the value of your portfolio, all parties have an incentive to work toward performance goals and objectives. The compensation paid to Householder Group by third party managers may vary. Thus, there may be a conflict of interest to recommend a manager who shares a larger portion of its advisory fees over another manager. Additionally, the fees charged to clients utilizing a third party manager recommended by Householder Group are higher than if the client obtained services directly from the third party manager. In all such cases, these arrangements are fully disclosed to the affected client(s). Clients are not obligated to use their Advisor for any of the products or services referenced in this Brochure. Lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources.

All compensation received by Householder Group Advisors for securities transactions through LPL will be separate, yet customary for effecting the services and transactions, including 12b-1 fees for the sale of investment company products. Advisors may make differing recommendations with respect to the same securities or insurance products to different advisory clients. All recommendations made are specific to each client's individualized needs and current financial situation.

Householder Group strongly encourages you to carefully read prospectuses and consider the investment objectives, risks and charges and expenses of the investment company, prior to investing. The contract prospectus and the underlying fund prospectus contain this and other information about the investment company.

The conflicts described here are addressed through ongoing training, annual compliance meetings, and through routine transaction review by either Householder Group's Chief Compliance Officer or Compliance staff.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Householder Group has adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the firm, including Advisors, describing its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of non-public client information, a prohibition on insider trading, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at Householder Group must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

Householder Group anticipates that, in appropriate circumstances, consistent with clients' investment objectives, it will cause accounts over which Householder Group has management authority to effect the purchase or sale of securities in which Householder Group, its affiliates and/or clients, directly or indirectly, have a position of interest. Householder Group's employees and persons associated with Householder Group are required to follow Householder Group's Code of Ethics. Subject to satisfying this policy and applicable laws, officers, directors and employees of Householder Group and its affiliates may trade for their own accounts in securities which are recommended to and/or purchased for Householder Group's clients. The Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of the employees of Householder Group will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts. Under the Code, certain classes of securities have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would materially not interfere with the best interest of Householder Group's clients. In addition, the Code requires pre-clearance of many transactions, and restricts trading in close proximity to client trading activity. Nonetheless, because the Code of Ethics in some circumstances would permit employees to invest in the same securities as clients, there is a possibility that employees might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by an employee. Employee trading is continually monitored under the Code of Ethics to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between Householder Group and its clients. The conflicts, which are disclosed in this Brochure, are addressed through ongoing training, annual compliance meetings, and routine review of transactions by either Householder Group's Chief Compliance Officer or Compliance staff.

Certain affiliated accounts may trade in the same securities with client accounts on an aggregated basis when consistent with Householder Group's obligation of best execution. In such circumstances, the affiliated and client accounts will share commission costs equally and receive securities at a total average price. Householder Group will retain records of the trade order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation, which will be completed prior to the entry of the aggregated order. Completed orders will be allocated as specified in the initial trade order. Partially filled orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions will be explained on the order.

It is Householder Group's policy that the firm will not affect any principal or agency cross securities transactions for client accounts. Householder Group will also not cross trades between client accounts. Principal transactions are generally defined as transactions where an advisor, acting as principal for its own account or the account of an affiliated broker-dealer, buys from or sells any security to any advisory client. A principal transaction may also be deemed to have occurred if a security is crossed between an affiliated hedge fund and another client account. An agency cross transaction is defined as a transaction where a person acts as an investment advisor in relation to a transaction in which the investment advisor, or any person controlled by or under common control with the investment advisor, acts as the broker for both the advisory client and for another person on the other side of the transaction. Agency cross transactions may arise where an advisor is dually registered as a broker-dealer or has an affiliated broker-dealer.

Householder Group's clients or prospective clients may request a copy of the firm's Code of Ethics by contacting our Compliance staff at 602-604-0700.

Affiliates of Householder Group may provide securities brokerage, recordkeeping or other Retirement Plan Services to plans and receive variable compensation for investment management and Retirement Plan Services. A conflict of interest may arise where Householder Group recommends the Retirement Plan Services of those affiliates.

Householder Group, our employees, and our independent contractor Advisors benefit from the compensation paid to us, and may directly or indirectly receive a portion of the fees and other compensation paid by Retirement Plan Services clients. Those clients may also use other products or Retirement Plan Services available from or through us and in such case pay additional compensation. This practice creates a potential conflict of interest that may give us and our Advisors an incentive to recommend advisory Retirement Plan Services based on the compensation received.

If the client desires instead to engage an Advisor to provide brokerage services acting as a registered representative of LPL Financial Corporation ("LPL"), and Advisor will receive brokerage-related compensation for those services, such as commissions and/or trail fees. LPL provides information regarding such brokerage compensation at the time of a brokerage transaction. When considering whether to implement a recommendation through Advisor and Householder Group, clients should discuss with the Advisor how Householder Group and Advisor will be compensated. Additionally, fees and commissions may also be higher for some brokerage products, services or Retirement Plan Services, and the remuneration and profitability to us, our Advisors and affiliates resulting from transactions involving some accounts may be greater than the remuneration and profitability resulting from other advisory accounts, products or Retirement Plan Services.

We address these conflicts through disclosure in this ADV and additional disclosures concerning compensation we may receive, directly or indirectly. We will also offset or refund additional compensation when required by law. Moreover, we have adopted policies and procedures to address the suitability of investments and strategies offered to you.

It is important to note that clients are under no obligation to grant Householder Group investment discretion. Clients should understand that the investment products, securities and services that an Advisor may select as part of Retirement Plan Services are available to be purchased through broker-dealers, investment advisors or other investment firms not affiliated with Householder Group.

Client should understand that Householder Group and Advisor may perform advisory and/or brokerage services for various other clients, and that Householder Group and Advisor may give advice or take actions for those other clients that differ from the advice given to the client. The timing or nature of any action taken for a client may also be different.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

Householder Group will recommend LPL, in its capacity as a broker-dealer, to clients in need of brokerage and/or custodial services. LPL is a fully disclosed introducing broker-dealer who clears transactions for Householder Group advisory clients.

Although you are not required to select LPL for execution and custodial services, Householder Group does not allow clients to participate in its investment advisory services if they select another broker-dealer. Householder Group does not have discretion to select the broker-dealer to use for transactions or to negotiate transaction costs. Transactions executed through LPL, in its broker-dealer capacity, as part of services identified in this Brochure, may be subject to LPL's then current transaction fee and commission schedule. If applicable, such commissions and fees will be "fully disclosed". These practices present a conflict of interest and may give your Advisor an incentive to recommend products based on the compensation received, rather than on your needs.

Commissions and other account expenses and costs charged by LPL may be higher or lower than commissions you may be able to obtain if transactions were implemented through another broker/dealer.

To improve the quality of execution, Householder Group Advisors may aggregate your transactions with other orders for his or her clients. Allocations of aggregated orders are made under procedures designed to treat all clients fairly. Aggregation of transactions typically occurs only when an Advisor is executing a transaction in the same investment in multiple client accounts. If transactions are not aggregated, this may result in higher costs to clients than if transactions are aggregated. Participating clients will obtain the average price per share for the security executed that day. To the extent the aggregated order is not filled in its entirety and when possible, securities purchased or sold in an aggregated transaction will be allocated on a pro-rata basis. Under certain circumstances, the amount of securities may be increased or decreased to avoid holding odd-lot or a small number of shares for particular clients.

Not all advisory firms require their clients to direct brokerage to a specified broker-dealer. Accordingly, the investment advisory services provided by Householder Group may cost clients more or less than purchasing similar services separately. You should consider whether or not the appointment of LPL as the sole broker-dealer may or may not result in certain costs or disadvantages to you as a result of possibly less favorable executions. Factors to consider include the type and size of the account, the securities to be bought or sold and your historical and/or expected size or number of trades.

In initially selecting LPL, Householder Group conducted due diligence. Householder Group's evaluation and criteria includes:

- Ability to service you
- Staying power as a company
- Industry reputation
- Ability to report to you and to Householder Group
- Availability of an efficient trading platform
- Products and services available
- Technology resources
- Educational resources
- Execution capability
- Financial responsibility and viability
- Confidentiality and security of your information
- Responsiveness
- Other factors that may bear on the overall evaluation of best price and execution

Householder Group has received a loan from LPL Financial in order to assist Householder Group with transitioning its business onto the LPL Financial custodial platform. This loan may not be forgiven by LPL Financial based on the scope of business Householder Group engages in with LPL Financial, including the amount of Householder Group's client assets with LPL Financial. This presents a conflict of interest in that Householder Group has a financial incentive to recommend that you maintain your account with LPL Financial in order to benefit by having the loan forgiven. However, to the extent Householder Group recommends you use LPL Financial for such services, it is because Householder Group believes that it is in your best interest to do so based on the quality and pricing of the execution, benefits of an integrated platform for brokerage and advisory accounts, and other services provided by LPL Financial.

LPL also makes available to Householder Group other products and services that benefit Householder Group but may not directly benefit you. Some of these other products and services assist Householder Group with managing and administering your accounts. These include software and other technology that provide access to your account data (such as trade confirmation and account statements); facilitate trade execution; provide research, pricing information and other market data; facilitate payment of Householder Group's fees from your accounts; and assist with back-office functions; recordkeeping and client reporting. Many of these services generally may be used to service all or a substantial number of Householder Group's accounts, including accounts not held through LPL.

Additionally, vendors and product sponsors such as variable and investment companies which are recommended to you may provide support to Householder Group and Advisory Representatives. Such support includes research, educational information, increased payout margins, and monetary support for due diligence trips and client events.

Advisors, when appropriate, may recommend that a Plan use a certain retirement plan platform or service provider (such as a record keeper, administrator or broker-dealer). That recommendation may include using our affiliate, LPL, to serve as broker-dealer in connection with the sale of securities or insurance products to the Plan. As noted above, for Plans that are subject to ERISA or are otherwise subject to Section 4975 of the Code, 12b-1 fees paid by product sponsors to LPL as broker-dealer of record to the Plan are used to offset the Fee

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Householder Group Advisors perform account reviews on a periodic basis, such as quarterly or semi-annually, but typically no less than annually. Your Advisor will review your investments as well as your changing needs and objectives. In general, the frequency and extensiveness of the review is set between you and your Advisor based upon your preferences and the specific requirements of managing your portfolio and your personal needs. This said review may also occur when you inform your Advisor of substantial changes to your financial or tax status, investment objectives, risk tolerance or time horizons. Finally, reviews may occur when fundamental market factors (e.g., inflation rates, interest rates, GDP, etc.) change in a material way.

You will receive regular statements, at least quarterly, concerning your investments directly from the qualified custodian holding your assets. In some instances, and depending on the advisory program selected, you may receive additional "special" performance reporting provided to you on a quarterly basis detailing performance and comparative data. From time to time, and at the request of your Advisor, you may receive a consolidated report generated by Householder Group to help facilitate the portfolio review process between you and your Advisor.

With respect to third-party managed accounts, Householder Group Advisors will review the services, reporting and account data you are provided with by the approved third-party investment advisors to ensure consistency with fair and ethical practices. Generally, quarterly and year-end reports will be prepared for each client by third-party investment managers. These reports will not be prepared by Householder Group. The nature and frequency of the reports will vary depending upon the third-party manager being utilized. You should refer to the third-party investment manager's Form ADV Brochure for more information.

Some Advisors may generate account statements or performance reports for clients. You are urged to compare the account statements from the custodian with those from the Advisor. In some instances, Advisor statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities. Please notify Householder Group if a discrepancy is found.

It is important you compare any report or statement received from either Householder Group or your Advisor to the statements you receive direct from the account custodian. If there are any discrepancies, the statement direct from the account custodian will prevail and must be relied upon.

We will contact you at least once a year to review our Retirement Plan Services. It is important that you discuss any changes in the Plan's demographic information, investment goals, and objectives with your Advisor. Plans may receive written reports directly from their Advisor based upon the services being provided, including any reports evaluating the performance of Plan investment manager(s) or investments.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Householder Group receives an economic benefit from LPL Financial in the form of a loan, which is forgiven if Householder Group meets certain conditions in terms of maintaining a relationship with LPL Financial. Please see detailed discussion of the conditions and potential conflicts of interest in Item 12 Brokerage Practices.

Item 14: The following disclosure of a Promissory Note issued to Scott Householder by LPL Financial. This note represents a five year forgivable loan and one-fifth of the note will be forgiven on the yearly anniversary of the note. This note was issued to Scott Householder of HGERS for the loss of assets to another LPL Hybrid registered investment adviser. It was issued to bridge the gap of lost revenue to HGERS which those assets created. This conflict interest is created by the fact that Scott Householder must remain registered with LPL for the forgiveness to take place. To mitigate that conflict of interest we provide this disclosure.

Vendors and product sponsors such as variable and investment companies which are recommended to you may provide support to Householder Group and Advisory Representatives. Such support includes research, educational information, increased payout margins, and monetary support for due diligence trips and client events.

Client Referrals

Householder Group may compensate other persons or organizations for client referrals. These entities or individuals are referred to as solicitors. In each of those cases, Householder Group enters into an agreement with the referral agent or solicitor and pays the solicitor a portion of the Fee. At the time that the solicitor refers a prospective client to Householder Group, the solicitor discloses to the prospective client both the arrangement with Householder Group and the compensation to be received by the solicitor. Householder Group and its Advisors may also offer advisory services on the premises of unaffiliated financial institutions, like banks or credit unions. If so, Investment Advisor will have entered into agreements with the financial institutions to share compensation, including a portion of the Fee, with the financial institution for the use of the financial institution's facilities and for client referrals.

Householder Group's Use of Solicitors

Householder Group may compensate outside professionals or firms, such as attorneys, accountants, or other broker/dealers and investment advisers, for referring your advisory business to Householder Group. These professionals or firms are known as "Solicitors". Householder Group will pay a portion of the advisory fee you pay us to the Solicitor, typically for as long as you maintain an advisory relationship with us, to compensate the Solicitor for the referral. Householder Group will not charge a client who is referred to them by a Solicitor any amount for the cost of obtaining the client that is in addition to the fee normally charged by Householder Group for its investment advisory services. Such solicitation arrangements are disclosed to clients at the time of the solicitation via execution of a Solicitor Disclosure Statement or similar document that outlines the nature and amount of the compensation we pay to the Solicitor and whether or not the Solicitor is affiliated with or related to Householder Group. Solicitors are required to provide prospective clients with a current copy of Householder Group's Form ADV Part 2 no later than the date on which the client enters into an advisory relationship with Householder Group.

Other Compensation

Householder Group and/or its Advisors and Householder Group employees may receive additional compensation from various vendors, product providers, distributors and others. These providers may provide non-monetary compensation by paying some expenses related to training and education, including travel expenses, and attaining professional designations. Investment Adviser might receive payments to subsidize its own training programs. Certain vendors may invite Householder Group to participate in conferences, on-line training or provide it publications that may further its Advisors and employees' skills and knowledge. Some may occasionally provide Householder Group gifts, meals and entertainment of reasonable value consistent with industry rules and regulations.

For additional information regarding client referrals and other compensation, please refer to Item 5 and Item 10.

Item 15 – Custody

Householder Group may deduct fees directly from your accounts but does not otherwise have custody of your funds or securities. You may terminate authorization for automatic fee deduction of advisory fees by notifying your Advisor in writing. In turn, the Advisor will notify the Householder Group Corporate office promptly.

Deduction of advisory fees will be made by the qualified custodian holding your funds and securities. Further, the qualified custodian is responsible for delivering a monthly or quarterly account statement directly to you showing all disbursements from the account. You are encouraged to review all account statements for accuracy. Householder Group will receive a duplicate copy of the statement that was delivered to you in order to form a reasonable belief that such statements are being delivered. Clients should carefully review statements received from the broker/dealer or account custodian. Further, clients should compare any written report received from Householder Group with statements received direct from the broker/dealer or account custodian. Should there be any discrepancy the account custodian's report will prevail.

Householder Group and Advisors will not serve as a custodian for Plan assets in connection with the Retirement Plan Services. The Sponsor is responsible for selecting the custodian for Plan assets. Advisors and Householder Group may be listed as the contact for the Plan account held at an investment sponsor or custodian. The Sponsor for the Plan will complete account paperwork with the outside custodian that will provide the name and address of the custodian. The custodian for Plan assets is responsible for providing the Plan with periodic confirmations and statements. Householder Group recommends that Sponsors review the statements and reports received directly from the custodian or investment sponsor

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

Select Householder Group Advisors have been given approval from the Householder Group's Chief Compliance Officer to manage accounts on a discretionary basis. This means that once you give him/her discretionary authority, he/she does not need advance approval from you to determine the type and amount of securities to be bought and sold for your accounts.

If you decide to grant your Advisor discretionary authority, you may do so at the outset of the advisory relationship by executing a Client Service Agreement. In such instances, you are granting your Advisor complete discretion to determine the selection and amount of securities to be bought or sold and the timing of execution. While exercising discretionary authority, the Advisor must exercise such discretion in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for your account.

You may set limitations and restrictions on the discretionary authority you grant to you Advisor. If applicable, limitations are included in the initial written authority. However, you may amend any limitation as necessary. All Investment guidelines, limitations and restrictions must be provided to Householder Group Advisors in writing. You may terminate discretionary authorization at any time upon delivery of written notice to terminate discretionary authority.

With respect to third-party managed accounts only, neither Householder Group nor any related person has the authority to determine, without first obtaining your specific consent, the securities to be bought or sold, the amount of the securities to be bought or sold, or the broker-dealer to be used for the purchase or sale of securities. Instead, these decisions shall be made according to the terms of the investment advisory agreement executed by you and your chosen third-party investment manager. Your chosen third-party investment manager may have discretionary authority in your account. You should refer to the third-party investment manager's Form ADV Brochure for more information. Pursuant to this Agreement, Householder Group does not provide discretionary services to Retirement Plan Assets.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy and practice, Householder Group does not have any authority to and does not vote proxies on behalf of advisory clients. Clients retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in client portfolios. Householder Group and Advisors may not provide advice to clients regarding the clients' voting of proxies.

Householder Group has no authority or responsibility to vote any security held by the Plan or the related proxies. That authority is reserved by the Sponsor or Trustee of the Plan.

Item 18 – Financial Information

We have no financial commitment that impairs our ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to you and we have not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.

Item 19 – Requirements for State-Registered Advisers

Householder Group is federally registered with the SEC and is not at State-Registered Adviser.
